NEW MARKER FOR REDWOOD 'GATEWAY'

An 18-ton section of a redwood log that washed ashore at Crescent City in the flood last Christmas was "christened" today at Vista Point by (of all things!) Arabs. They are the Del Norte County A-rabs, a Redwood Empire booster group. Doing the "christening" is State Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, flanked by L. E. Castner, president of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board. Atop the log are Con Gillespie and Robert Ames of the "Mighty Caliphate of the West," which runs the A-rabs. The "dancing girl" in foreground is Susan Mar-eaux. (Independent-Journal photo)

Girl Tells Of Life In Rights Effort

By BRUCE COLEMAN

To Natchez by car is a 46-hours drive going straight through.

If all goes well and money is raised for a car, Pat Hansen of Sausalito will leave next Sunday by auto for Natchez, Miss., to continue her work in the civil rights movement.

She has been at home a week, resting after working since January in Mississippi Freedom Schools and in voter registration, welfare and job placement work. She was arrested three times.

Once she was arrested with a 12-year-old Negro girl, who, she said, "is very active in the movement."

"Police took us up and held us 24 hours and beat her up," said Miss Hansen. "They held me so that I could not help her. They put soap in a nylon stocking and hit her with it so it wouldn't leave any marks. It's very painful. It's a professional job but no marks show."

On another occasion Miss Hansen, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hansen of 205 West Street, was beaten while walking down the street in an integrated group.

PAT HANSEN
Plans return to Natchez

"They jumped us," said the pert blonde. "They charged me with inviting a riot and put me in a drunk tank with eight or 10 white women. They tried us. I didn't even go to the trial. The judge sentenced us to six months in jail and fined me $1,000. We said, 'We can't pay it.' Then the charges were dropped and we got out of jail."

Miss Hansen has been living in a Natchez Freedom House owned by the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, of which she is a member. In the same house live Mike Smith, 24, of Corte Madera; Pete Muilenberg, 19, of the Philippine Islands; Alberta Watkins, 21, a Negro from Philadelphia, Pa., and Dorrie Ladner, 20, of Mississippi.

Marin high school students are taking up a collection for a car which Miss Hansen hopes to drive back to Mississippi. The Marin Youth for Social Action Committee has raised $150 so far at Redwood and Tamalpais high schools. Redwood student Dave Durbin of 15 Bridge Road, Larkspus, is chairman.

The civil rights worker stressed importance of a car but said "money is the most desperate need." She also came home to seek money.

Staying with the Hansens is Margaret Block, 23, of Cleveland, Miss., also a civil rights worker.

Asked how she feels the civil rights movement is progressing,

Viet Air Raids Pace Stepped Up

Ground War Flares Near South's Capital

SAIGON (UPI)—Waves of American and South Vietnamese fighter-bombers stepped up the air war against North Viet Nam today with a series of round-the-clock raids against transportation targets in Communist territory.

On the ground, Communist guerrillas killed one U.S. adviser and wounded two others yesterday in what was described as an "intense engagement" 25 miles northwest of Saigon. Two other American soldiers were wounded in a nearby related action and another was slightly hurt in a separate action about 65 miles northwest of here.

A U.S. military spokesman also reported that Viet Cong troops "continued harrassing activities" last night in the Hai Yen region of An Xuyen Province, about 100 miles south of Saigon. Hai Yen is the headquarters of the famed "sea swallows," a counter-guerrilla band of religious followers commanded by the "fighting father," Roman Catholic Rev. Nguyen Lac Hoa.

Early today, guerrillas overran an outpost at Ai Sonan, about 45 miles southwest of Saigon. Thirteen government soldiers were killed, 7 wounded and 4 were missing.

50-TON RAID

An American military spokesman said 72 U.S. man South Vietnamese planes rained 50 tons of bombs on five Communist bridges, knocking out spans on four of them.

The strikes followed a night-long string of aerial assaults by 28 jets and prop-driven planes from the carriers Coral Sea and Midway.

In the ground war, new reports of "Chinese-speaking soldiers" among Communist guerrillas today heightened speculation that Communist China may have made good on its threat to send "volunteers" to South Viet Nam.

The presence of Chinese speakers in Viet Cong ranks was reported yesterday by the commander of a South Vietnamese army battalion involved in a series of clashes with Communist forces during the weekend in the Saigon area.

VIET CONG STRIKE

The Viet Cong also seized temporary control of Buon Sar village and a nearby strategic Highway 79 miles northeast of Saigon and ambushed the government relief force sent to drive them out.

Guerrillas occupied the village Friday afternoon and collected "taxes" from vehicles passing along Highway 20 for more than 24 hours before a government battalion drove them off.

SAN RAFAELITE IN VIETNAM AMBUSH FIGHT

Capt. Vance R. Sutley of San Rafael, American adviser to a Vietnamese battalion that was ambushed yesterday en route to the village of Buon Sar, is on his second tour of duty in wartorn Viet Nam.

Captain Sutley and his wife, Jean, and two sons live at 123 Canal Street.

He returned to Viet Nam on March 5, after being stationed for a year and one-half at Fort Mason, his wife reported. Before his assignment there, he had served a previous tour in Viet Nam. A 16-year Army veteran, the infantry captain also served in Korea during the war there.

Teachers' Say On Grades Makes Gain

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly decided today that teachers should have a final say on what grades their students get.

The lower house voted 45-13 for a measure by Assemblyman Charles B. Garrigus, D-Reedley, that would prohibit non-teachers from changing a student's grade once it had been entered by the teacher. It would allow grade changes when the teacher was found to be incompetent or guilty of fraud.

Opponents argued that the bill was aimed at athletes.

"If an administrator wants to reward an athlete who has contributed a lot to a school but may have flunked a class, I don't see anything wrong with that," said Assemblyman John L.E. Collier, R-Los Angeles.

Assemblyman Jack Casey, D-Bakersfield, a college instructor, said the bill was needed "to protect the morale of teachers and students alike. There is nothing more devastating to teacher morale than seeing an administrator give in to pressure and change a student's grades."

Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, D-South San Francisco, a former teacher, said pressure often was brought to bear by influential parents as well as sports groups and coaches.

The bill now goes to the Senate.

King Returns To Alabama Rights Drive

SELMA, Ala. (UPI) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. returned to Alabama today to boost his civil rights drive and protested the failure of a jury to convict a Ku Klux Klansman charged with killing civil rights worker Mrs. Viola Liuzzo.

King criticized the outcome of a trial at Hayneville last week that resulted in a mistrial for Collie Leroy Wilkins. The mistrial came after the jury remained deadlocked for more than 10 hours.

King said the trial "proved once more that Alabama has not come to terms with its conscience and is not willing to convict those who murder civil rights workers." The jurors voted 10-2 to convict.

"The outcome of this case definitely affected our planning" for civil rights meetings here this week, he said.

King returned to Alabama to lay new plans for his 4-month-old voter registration drive that resulted in the death of three persons and hundreds of injuries.

Brown Says Water Plan Is Endorsed

SACRAMENTO (UPI)— Gov. Edmund G. Brown announced today the Johnson administration has endorsed the Southwest regional water plan including $740 million in construction projects.

"This could mean legislation in this Congress," Brown said. He said Interior Secretary Stewart Udall had told him he would comment favorably on the plan later this week.

Brown said the endorsement, announced by the Budget Bureau, included:

Acceptance of the regional concept for water development in the West.

A guarantee to California of 4.4 million acre-feet of water in the Colorado River until the President declares that import works can bring an additional 2.5 million acre-feet of water into the river.

Immediate authorization of $740 million for construction of irrigation, power, recreation works, including the Central Arizona Project.

Creation of a national study commission to report within five years on areas of oversupply and areas of special need, including the Pacific Southwest.

Brown cautioned that the Budget Bureau recommendation was "but a first step, not a last, because all of us who are affected by a matter as complex and important as the Colorado will want to have an opportunity to review the administration position."

"While the legislation is directed to the Colorado River, it has implications for all of California."

Russ Want Germany Status Quo

PARIS (AP)—Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin is reported to have expressed agreement with French President Charles De Gaulle's contention that the question of Germany is a European problem which should be settled by Europeans. In a statement to Russian affairs writer Michel Gordey published in today's France Soir, Kosygin said:

"We are at present completely satisfied with the status quo of the German problem. Revision of the German frontiers is impossible. History has never afforded an example of a country giving up territories conquered after a war provoked by the vanquished.

"We are in agreement with the views expressed publicly by Gen. De Gaulle on the prospects for a solution of the German problem within a European framework. In any case, the facts speak for themselves: There are two German states and it is up to the Germans themselves to discuss their common problems."

Peace Offer Spurned By Dominican Rebels

COMBINED AP & UPI

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic — The Dominican rebels have rejected a surrender invitation from the new military-civilian junta with a reply that they have the morale and manpower to withstand attack.

Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, president of the five-man junta, warned yesterday that his forces were ready "as of now" to move against the rebels. But he said no attack would be launched until every effort has been exhausted to avert bloodshed.

U.S. sources said Washington would counsel against any renewal of fighting between the opposing Dominican factions.

In Washington, the Organization of American States (OAS) meets today to work out the details of its inter-American peacekeeping force for the revolt-torn Dominican Republic.

Thus far no Latin American nation has officially made available any troops for the hemispheric force although a few countries have promised to do so.

Diplomatic sources said yesterday that members of a five-nation OAS peace committee sent to the island nation confirmed strong Communist infiltration among rebel groups.

They said that one member of the peace commission reported that "order was dead. We found chaos such as we had never seen or imagined. We felt no law existed."

Meanwhile rebel troops shelled U. S. positions with mortar and rifle fire last night, it was disclosed today. No casualties were reported.

Three new airborne casualties were reported during the night but there were no details on how they were wounded. Three non - battle casualties were reported, including one Marine killed when his fellow-sentry's rifle discharged accidentally. The man whose rifle went off suffered a nervious breakdown and also was evacuated.

U. S. officials said a rebel force of about 50 men attacked civil-military junta troops outside the security zone at nightfall but were driven off by junta riflemen and tank fire. No casualty figures were available.

The new attacks came as

Railroad Seeks Delay On Tunnel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Northwestern Pacific Railroad asked the California Supreme Court today to again stay a Public Utilities Commission order for a quick $900,000 reconstruction of the Porto Suello Tunnel in Marin County.

The railroad said it wanted time to appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

It will ask that the tunnel problem be considered in the light of $10 million in damages affecting nearly 100 miles of track in the December floods.

Crowd At Kremlin Applauds Stalin

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP) — A burst of spontaneous applause for Joseph Stalin reverberated out of the Kremlin during the weekend and across the Soviet Union.

The unrehearsed tribute erupted suddenly after a fleeting mention of Stalin as the Soviet's World War II armed forces commander in chief in a speech on the 20th anniversary of V-E Day by the new Soviet Communist party leader, Leonid I. Brezhnev.

The crowd's reaction seemed to strike Brezhnev like a thunderclap. Obviously surprised, he stumbled over his text. He quickly recovered his composure and abruptly cut off the demonstration by resuming his reading.

The manifestation indicated that, despite nine years of destalinization, there may be many more fans of Stalin than the Soviet leaders suspected.

The crowd gathered in the 6,000-seat Kremlin Palace of Congresses auditorium was similar to the hundreds of Soviet audiences before whom Nikita Khrushchev had denounced Stalin as a bloody tyrant.

Many were representatives of the Soviet Communist party and government elite who professed complete sympathy with Khrushchev's vituperation toward the late dictator.

A majority of the audience, however, were ordinary men and women who fought under Stalin's command during World War II.

Many of them probably charged into combat shouting the battle cry: "For the Motherland, for Stalin."

Many were taught hymns to Stalin in schools and nurseries. They still know by heart verses giving thanks to Stalin for everything from their daily bread to the onset of spring.

Small groups gathered in Red Square after the meeting to discuss the applause for Stalin.

Many openly repudiated Khrushchev's charges against the former Kremlin ruler. Others bitterly criticized Khrushchev.

The comments are typical of the warm sentiments toward Stalin frequently encountered by Russian-speaking foreigners in informal contacts with ordinary Russians.

Popular sentiment may soften the official criticism of Stalin but it is not likely to force the Kremlin leaders to rehabilitate him.

Khrushchev's successors are on record in favor of continued destalinization. They recently made it clear that Stalin's positive contributions, particularly during World War II, would be acknowledged, but that his mistakes and tyrannical methods would not be forgotten.

The Kremlin audience gave further evidence of the ease with which Russians can accept yesterday's villain as today's hero and vice versa.

Marshal Georgi Zhukov, making his first appearance in public since Khrushchev banished him from public life in 1957, got a hearty round of applause.

The warm ovation clearly indicated that Khrushchev's charges of political treachery against Zhukov had done little to tarnish the marshal's image as one of the Soviet Union's popular wartime leaders.

Brezhnev's audience added another ironic note to the evening by applauding his mention of Communist Chinese leader Mao Tze-tung, the arch-villain of Soviet anti-Chinese propaganda only a few months ago.

Some observers felt this was more a dutiful response to the current Soviet line of conciliation and friendliness toward the Chinese than a demonstration of warm regard.

Russ Send Another Rocket To The Moon

By FRED W. COLEMAN

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union celebrated the 20th anniversary of V-E day yesterday with a new moon shot, a military display, an appeal for renunciation of nuclear weapons and a new attack on U.S. policy.

The moon shot, Lunik 5, was a 3,254-pound electronic instrument package to gather and send back scientific information. The Soviet news agency Tass said it was launched from an artificial earth satellite put into orbit earlier in the day by a multistage rocket.

The exact time or place of the launching was not announced, but it presumably took place about the hour the Kremlin gave its first public display of the kind of rockets that have carried its manned space ships into orbit.

Tass said Lunik 5 was equipped with "measuring devices" but did not say what kind of information it would send back from its 250,000-mile journey.

Tass said the rocket at 10 p.m. yesterday was 70,000 miles from the earth and was close to its planned course.

There was no indication of any attempt to radio back photographs of the moon's surface. An earlier Lunik had photographed the dark side of the moon. There was no indication whether the rocket would hit the moon or go into orbit around it.

The Soviet display came during a military parade in Red Square. Soviet leaders and thousands of Muscovites saw in an 18-minute weapons show a pair of 110-foot, 3-stage rockets and four other weapons never seen in public before.

Tass said the giant rockets were solid-fueled and that their range was "unlimited." The agency added "they are similar" to the rockets that launched the Vostok and Voshkod manned space ships.

Western observers were skeptical of the claim that the rockets were solid-fueled. They noted that some exterior features were similar to those on liquid-fueled rockets used in the U.S. space program.

Other weapons not shown previously to the public were a six-rocket antitank system mounted on an armored reconnaissance vehicle, 20 new T62 medium tanks that have been in service since 1963, a medium-range missile mounted on a self-propelled launching platform and a three - stage intercontinental rocket, about 60 to 65 feet long.

Horowitz Has New Triumph In Recital

NEW YORK (UPI) — The thundering ovations and quiet tears of a Carnegie Hall audience made the master's edict unnecessary.

World-renowned pianist Vladimir Horowitz had asked that no one be allowed backstage following his first public recital in 12 years.

"I don't want anyone to tell me how I played," he said. "I know."

His performance yesterday after a dozen years of self-imposed exile from the concert stage was regarded as a smashing triumph.

A new generation of music lovers—some of whom queued up for two days to get standing room tickets—heard Horowitz in person for the first time and discovered a new zenith in piano artistry.

Tall, elegant and still dark-haired at 61, Horowitz showed that his long-renowned keyboard mastery had not suffered during his seclusion but rather had attained vital maturity.

Tornado-Hit Town Receives Massive Aid

PRIMROSE, Neb. (AP) — Spurred by Gov. Frank Morrison's promise of all possible aid, National Guardsmen, volunteers and residents of this Nebraska community dug in today to clear the debris left by a tornado that ripped a 300-yard path along Main Street Saturday night.

Bulldozers, dump trucks, front end loaders and chain saws operated by guardsmen ordered in by the governor have started the cleanup task.

A group of plumbers came in from Norfolk, Neb., to help restore water service and Forest Service officials were to look over trees to see which could be saved.

The governor visited the community yesterday during an air tour of the tornado-stricken area. He called the storm one of the worst in the history of the state.

The twister, one of at least 20 reported within a 100-mile radius of Norfolk in northeastern Nebraska, left four dead and nine injured in Primrose alone. No other deaths were recorded but as reports filtered in from more than a score of other communities, it appeared the injured list would be at least 25.

In this village of 129 persons 100 miles west of Omaha only 5 of 14 business buildings on Main Street were left standing. About 20 dwellings were demolished and 18 to 20 more were so badly damaged they appeared beyond repair.

Columbus himself had doubts about the seaworthiness of his flagship. He called the Santa Maria "a dulls ailer and unfit for discovery."

Klan Stages Mother's Day Gathering

ANNISTON, Ala. (AP) — Ku Klux Klan leaders held a massive Mothers Day rally and parade in this northeast Alabama city and heard Imperial Wizard Robert M. Shelton declare that "segregation and purity of the races is God's law."

There were no disorders, nor arrests, as the klansmen and about 500 supporters met in the Municipal Auditorium and then paraded for 10 blocks under a warm sun through the downtown area.

The orderliness of the demonstration was in sharp contrast to Mothers Day in 1961 and 1963 when there were outbursts of racial violence here.

Joining yesterday's marchers were the three Klansmen charged with the March 25 slaying of Viola Liuzzo, a Detroit housewife who was shot to death near Lowndesboro while shuttling civil rights workers from Montgomery to Selma following a march to the capital.

The trio—Eugene Thomas, 43; William Orville Eaton, 42, and Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, all of the Birmingham area — got a standing ovation when they were introduced by Shelton.

The exhibit will include the work of more than 150 students from day and evening classes in drawing, painting, sculpture, ceramics, printmaking, crafts, jewelry, lapidary, design, weaving, illustration and commercial art.

The students-in-action demonstration will be held throughout the public visiting hours.

Larkspur Girl Hurt As She's Hit By Car

Eight-year-old Dauna Weichel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weichel of 679 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, was treated for a scrape on her face at Marin General Hospital Friday after she was struck by a car on Magnolia Avenue on her way to school at 9:25 a.m.

Larkspur police said the driver was Robert Rodgers, 25, of 659 Magnolia Avenue. The girl stepped from between a dump truck and tractor after being warned by street workers not to cross, police said.

Integrationist Tells Of Threat In Bogalusa

BOGALUSA, La. (UPI) — A white integrationist said she was silently threatened by an armed white man at the end of a racially mixed church service yesterday.

Rita Marsh of San Francisco said it was the only incident when groups of Negroes and whites attended services at three churches.

The group peacefully desegregated St. Matthew's Episcopal Church.

They also attended services at Annunciation Roman Catholic Church and Mount Moriah Baptist Church.

While St. Matthew's has long held open doors to Negroes, yesterday's was the first attendance of Negroes at services at the formerly all-white church.

At the Catholic church, which has been integrated, the Negroes "mixed up the seating" instead of remaining apart from whites as has been done in the past.

And at Mount Moriah, whites for the first time attended services at the all-Negro church whose pastor last month criticized the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) for demonstration tactics.

SANTO

rebel forces pondered an ultimatum by the new Dominican civil-military junta calling on them to surrender or face all-out attack. Their military command had previously indicated there could be no meeting of minds between the two groups struggling for power.

The five-man junta, headed by Maj. Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, yesterday "retired" eight top-ranking officers from the Dominican Republic's armed forces in a move to win public support of the new regime.

Imbert urged the rebels, believed led by "provisional president" Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, to lay down their arms peacefully. He said they would be well-treated and given safe conduct out of the country.

Late yesterday, three American Navy men were released unharmed by the rebels. They had been captured Friday afternoon but were turned over to U.S. officials after negotiations with local Peace Corps Director Robert Satin.

Imbert said his new government had removed from power seven generals and one naval commander—six of whom immediately left the country and two who were allowed to remain as "simply citizens."

Imbert's announcement of the military purge gave no indication of the fate of Maj. Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin, who had been commanding forces fighting the rebels.

It was believed the change of command also was aimed at peace arrangements with Caamano, a longtime aide of the ousted Bosch.

Caamano Friday criticized "corrupt generals" he said were leading the Dominican forces and singled out Wessin in particular.

The council, meeting at 8 p.m. at Del Mar School, will consider dissolution of the Belveron Gardens and Tiburon Lighting districts and hear a report on proposed landscaping for the portion of Tiburon Boulevard now being constructed.

Kentfield School Budgets On List

Two proposed budgets and two proposed salary schedules will be presented to the Kentfield School District board when it meets at 7:45 p.m. today at Wolfe Grade School.

A recommendation on naming of a principal for Greenbrae School will be made. The board will discuss right of entry for Army Engineers to school grounds along Corte Madera Creek, and new access to the Wolfe Grade School.

Miss Hansen replied:

"Things are swinging."

"It must be swinging because the grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Natchez promised to send me out of Mississippi in a coffin."

Miss Hansen rode home, straight through, with a carpenter who had been building in Mississippi as a volunteer.

"Every day things happen," she continued. "More and more people join the movement every day. It used to be people would just 'cool it' after something happened but now it serves as something to mobilize the people. Down there, you are either involved or you're not. And once you do something, you're involved and people are becoming involved each day."

She cited songs that are heard such as "We'll Never Turn Back." This is heard not just in Mississippi but everywhere, she said.

Miss Hansen, a former College of Marin and Sacramento City College student, said she expects to remain in the South for the remainder of the year: "Going back now is conditioned on raising money for the car. I want to wait for that," she said.

Harbor Point Lot Size Fight Lawsuit Filed

A San Francisco couple—owners of 29 parcels of land at Harbor Point—today filed suit in Marin Superior Court asking for relief from alleged harrassment by the Marin County Department of Public Works.

The suit is the latest development in a dispute over an attempt by the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley W. Taylor, to lessen minimum subdivision lot sizes from 20,000 square feet.

Taylor, who said he has been accused of seeking to divide his some 12 acres into "postage stamp-sized" lots, declared minimum size being sought is about 15,000 square feet.

His suit charges that the county first delayed his excavation and grading permit "on one frivolous and improper pretext or requirement after another," and its issuance came only after he threatened to obtain a writ of mandate from Marin Superior Court.

Taylor alleges he began grading but the county then falsely accused him of breaking a sewer line, covering a manhole, and improper excavation.

On May 7, he charges, the Department of Public Works issued a stop-work order. His suit seeks a preliminary injunction against the county's action.

Taylor also asks that the suit be combined with a suit filed against him and his wife on April 5 by Bernard Osher and Mr. and Mrs. Dudley C. Knill, asking that the Taylors be bound by lot-size restrictions existing when they purchased the land on Jan. 8.

Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court on May 4 granted a preliminary injunction restraining the Taylors from violating the restrictions.

Hearing for the county to show cause why Taylor's request for a preliminary injunction and combination of suits should not be granted was scheduled for 2 p.m. May 24 before Judge Samuel W. Gardiner.

EXPERT CITES RISK OF BAY AREA SMOG

Marin County Facing Pollution Conditions Similar To Los Angeles

Bay Area residents face a long, tough fight against air pollution to keep from becoming smog-bound as Los Angeles.

The warning of an increasing smog threat was made today by John A. Maga, chief of the California Department of Public Health's Bureau of Air Sanitation.

"Growth brings with it the possibility that air pollution episodes will occur more frequently and increase in severity," he said in his report on "Air Resource Management in the San Francisco Bay Area."

There must be a greater effort, new approaches and firm community action to combat air pollution problems before they become critical, he said.

Data suggests that the Bay Area is repeating the air pollution history of Los Angeles, Maga said.

"It can be seen that in 1980, the population and number of automobiles expected here will be similar to those present in Los Angeles County in 1960. The potential for air pollution should be similar if other conditions are about the same."

Maga noted that areas having light winds experience the highest air pollution. He cited Hamilton Air Force Base as an area with a potential for air pollution.

His charts showed that the base has a large percentage of days when winds speeds are below four miles an hour. At such times, he said, air pollutants may not be effectively dispersed and all pollution episodes are most likely to occur."

Cars are the most vital factor in air pollution, therefore the solution of the air pollution problem "will require effective control of automobile emmissions," Maga said.

At the same time, the entire transportation system in the Bay Area should be planned with the objective of reducing the use of private cars as much as possible and of handling street and freeway traffic efficiently."

Maga contended that an effective transit system could reduce the use of private automobiles in downtown areas, and in turn, reduce air pollution levels.

The Bay Area Control District, covering nine counties including Marin, is the logical agency for attacking the air pollution problems until Solano, Napa and Sonoma counties become active, however, the district cannot act on a fully regional basis, he said.

The district is developing control programs, but new controls are needed, Maga said. It may become necessary, he predicted, to subject violators to misdemeanor charges. This is now being done in Los Angeles.

Air pollution regulations apply to emission from municipal and commercial incinerators, but backyard burning and inproper sewage and industrial waste practices lead to air pollution problems, and new regulations will be needed, he said.

Control of the many sources of air pollution will cost a great deal in terms of both money and hardship, Maga said.

Failure to keep the air clean, however, will not only be a hazard to health and vegetation, but will lead to the loss of the beautiful vistas and healthful climate that make the area unique, he said.

Maga's report was one of a series on Bay Area problems published by the Institute of Governmental studies at the University of California at Berkley.

Non-Driver's Joyride Ends In Injuries

A 13-year-old Novato boy, who never before had driven a car, went joyriding in his father's automobile early yesterday with two 15-year-old friends.

The ride ended when the car was demolished when it rolled over after the boy failed to steer it around a curve in the Hicks Valley Road, 2.3 miles west of San Marin Drive.

One of the passengers, Bruce E. Pearson, 15, of 202 Pico Vista Drive, Novato, suffered head cuts and bruises and was treated at Novato General Hospital.

The young driver took the keys from his home, California Highway Patrolmen reported, and was considering driving to Petaluma when the roll-over occurred at 2:30 a.m.

"I hadn't driven a car before but I had driven a tractor," the boy told patrolmen, who ticketed him for driving without a license.

Mitchell Is Seeking Advice On Warrants

Marin County Auditor Controller Michael Mitchell has asked the county counsel's office for an opinion on who has jurisdiction in design of county warrants.

Last Friday treasurer-tax collector Stanley J. Fontez objected to Mitchell's proposal to put an American Bankers Assn. number on warrants for payment to families on welfare in distributing money from responsible relatives.

Fontez claimed the number of specific bank would channel extra business to the bank. Mitchell said the use of a bank's number would be no advantage to the bank. Mitchell had indicated the Redwood National Bank's ABA number, but said it could be any bank.

Mitchell pointed out that an Indepenent-Journal story Friday was erroneous in saying he was proposing ABA numbers on all warrants. They were proposed only on the one class of welfare warrants, he said.

CHP Hat Stolen In Restaurant

A nervy souvenir collector added a California Highway Patrol sergeant's hat to his collection Saturday, Corte Madera police reported.

A slightly embarrassed Sgt. James Dukes reported he was in Zim's Restaurant at 1 a.m. having coffee when he noticed a group of young men gathered near the door. When he got up to leave the group was gone—and so was his soft hat, off the hat rack.

Dukes, who lives at 38 Paloma Drive, Corte Madera, said the hat was worth about $15.

Trustees Will Meet

A series of superintendent's reports and discussion of purchase of a school bus are on the agenda for a meeting of West Marin School District trustees at 8 p.m. today at the school in Point Reyes Station.

San Quentin Felon Stabbed Nine Times In Chest

San Quentin Prison inmate Charles Walter Leonard, 32, remained in serious condition in the prison hospital today after being stabbed nine times in the chest at 1 p.m. yesterday in the prison gymnasium.

Assoc. Warden James W. L. Park said a prison-made knife with a six-inch blade was found in an alley near the gymnasium "and may be the weapon."

Park said the investigation has turned up no suspect as yet, "but we think it may involve several inmates."

Park said 100 prisoners who were in the gymnasium at the time of the stabbing are being questioned. Investigators have found no motive for the stabbing.

Leonard, who had one of his lungs punctured during the stabbing, is serving a five years to life sentence for second degree murder in Los Angeles. He entered the prison in 1958.

He underwent surgery yesterday afternoon and is now in the intensive care unit of the hospital.

After being stabbed, Leonard clawed his way out of the gymnasium and found correctional officer D. E. Brown.

Drowned Bride's Last Rites Set

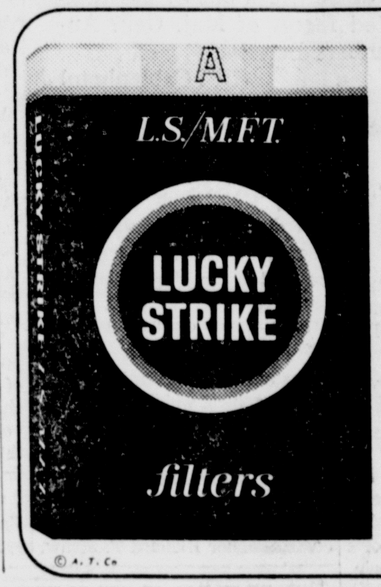

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A solemn requiem memorial Mass will be celebrated Wednesday at 10 a.m. for Eileen Jeffers Yager, who disappeared from her honeymoon yacht in coastal waters.

The former Miss Jeffers, 61, and heiress to a railroad fortune, wed Superior Court Judge Thomas C. Yager, 47, last Monday. The couple were returning to the mainland from Santa Catalina Island on a chartered yacht Thursday when she disappeared.

Yager told authorities he left his wife at the wheel and went below. When he returned to the deck she was gone. Coast Guard officials say they plan a routine investigation this week.

MUSIC REVIEW

Much Accomplished In One-Act Operas

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Saturday night's performance of two one-act operas by the College of Marin opera workshop in Olney Hall left no doubt that much is being accomplished.

Fast-paced and directed to make the most of every comic line and situation, Menotti's "Amelia Goes to the Ball" was very diverting. Soprano Marilyn Grant, starring as Amelia, proved that she is of professional caliber with exceptional acting ability and a special flair for comedy.

Both tenor Kenneth Rowland as the lover and baritone George Baker as the husband sang well. Rowland was the more convincing actor.

Miranda Forwood and Ann Secrist were decorative French maids and Frank Blake was adequate as the policeman.

Almost as interesting to watch as the stage business was the super dynamic Dr. Peggy Donovan, opera workshop director, as she sat at one piano and Phyllis Murphy at the other formed the "orchestra."

Very effective in mood was the "Riders to the Sea," the play by Synge with music by Vaughan Williams.

While sopranos Anna Secrist, as the older daughter Cathleen, and Miranda Forwood, as the younger daughter Nora, sang and acted their parts well. The effect was frequently more recitative, whereas mezzo soprano Margaret Lee as Maurya, the mother, truly sang her part with emotional conviction and beautiful tonal quality.

Assistant workshop director Larry Snyder was the able piano accompanist for this drama.

Heliport Wanted In Corte Madera

Plans for a helipad to allow the Edgewater Inn to offer air taxi service to its customers will be before the Corte Madera Planning Commission at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at the Town Hall.

The service would be operated by the American Helicopter Corp. of Novato. President R. L. Peterson said his firm would not operate a scheduled service, but would merely use the pad, on the east side of the building, for taxi landings.

The commission will hold a public hearing on the request of owners of the Park Madera shopping center to have a vehicle exit to Tamalpais Drive through town park property.

Hub Couple Celebrates 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. John Rossini of 29 Sais Avenue, San Anselmo, celebrated a half-century of marriage Saturday night at a party given by their son at Deer Park Villa in Fairfax.

Seventy-five guests attended the party for the couple who met and married 50 years ago in San Anselmo.

Mrs. Rossini recalled their first meeting at a friend's house and a whirlwind courtship that ended two months later in marriage.

"It's been a very happy marriage," she recalled, "and we've had a very nice, happy family."

The couple, both born in Italy, have a son, Andrew, of Alameda, who arranged the party, and two grandchildren.

Subdivision On Agenda For Novato Planning Body

The Novato Planning Commission will consider the tentative map of Hillsboro Heights subdivision when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Community House.

Roberts and Aguirre Inc. has submitted the map of the 58-lot subdivision on 21 acres west of Sutro Avenue and north of the Pleasant Valley subdivisions.

Douglas M. Christensen has asked for division of the Grant School property into two lots and a waiver on the planned commercial requirement so he can erect a temporary office on the property. Christensen recently bought the property at Highway 101 and Grant Avenue from the state.

The commission will also consider a request of Alexis Tellis for a use permit and architectural approval for a self-service car wash on Nave Drive south of Bolling Drive.

L. E. Tresch seeks approval for a 3,122-square foot addition to the Tresch Electrical Co. building at Machin and Sweetzer avenues. Emil Renati has asked for architectural approval for a 16,000-square-foot concrete warehouse adjacent to the Northwestern Pacific Railroad between Vallejo and Olive avenues.

Job Scene Bright For June Grads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department says this year's college graduates will find job prospects generally excellent.

The department's annual survey of employment conditions indicated the demand is greatest for graduates in scientific and technical fields. Opportunities for those with accounting degrees also are rated as excellent.

The survey also noted that there is an increased demand for liberal arts graduates.

Music For Minors Ends High-Level Current Season

Tamalpais High School's 50-piece band, directed by Robert Greenwood closed the current season of Music for Minors Saturday with a concert that was the end of a high-level series in both musical worth and entertainment.

Educational in value were Greenwood's clearly explained and humorously worded explanation of the various choirs and individual instruments within them, followed by demonstrations by band members.

Also informative was his explanation of the fugue form followed by the band's performance of Prelude and Fugue in B Flat Major by Bach.

A hit with the small fry was "Tubby the Tuba" with Randy Walker playing the tuba, Rebecca Hammond as Peepo the Piccolo and John Elder, the narrator. A fascinated audience on stage were little Paul, Ann and Joe Greenwood.

High point in entertainment for the older children, no doubt, was the medley from Walt Disney's "Mary Poppins," with Cappi Consta as Mary and Mike Hall as Bert, in costume singing excerpts from the musical.

Other numbers played by the band, which performed well but not up to its formal concert standards, were "Hey, Look Me Over," "Dansant," a sailor's dance by Leonard Bernstein, and a Spanish march.

A rousing good finale was the rollicking "Seventy-Six Trombones," to which the youngsters marched around the stadium and out, led by the band's drum major.—M.S.

The nomination of Martin Van Buren, later President of the United States, to be minister to Great Britain in 1831 was not confirmed by the Senate.

Pest Control Speakers Slated

A day-long conference on the use of systemics on trees will be held at the Marin Civic Center Wednesday with six speakers, a panel discussion and a demonstration.

Systemics are chemicals used in pest control which are assimilated into the tree's system.

The conference, to begin at 10 a.m. in the Board of Supervisors room, is sponsored by the office of county agricultural commissioner Richard T. Straw.

Novatan Dies On Skin-Diving Trip To Coast

Charles William Striker, 35, of 481 Via Herbosa, Novato, died yesterday afternoon while skin-diving in the ocean off Fort Ross in Sonoma County.

He apparently suffered a heart attack.

Striker, father of one, was diving with 13 other Marin County residents.

He was underwater for 20 minutes on his fatal dive before others on the tour, sponsored by Stans for Sports, Inc., of San Rafael, pulled him out. They were unable to revive him.

Striker, who was stationed at San Rafael General Hospital by Marin Medical Laboratories, was taken to Guerneville where an autopsy was to be performed today.

Striker, his wife, Bernadine, and 12-year-old daughter, Melodyann, had lived in Marin County five years. He was member of the California Assn. of Medical Laboratory Technologists.

He is also survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Striker of Idaho.

Funeral will be Thursday at 1 p.m. at Chapel of Marin in Novato. Burial will be—Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

Twin Cities' Police Nab Break-In Suspect

Police from Larkspur and Corte Madera teamed up yesterday to corral a San Francisco man charged with breaking into Dexter's television supply and repair shop.

Larkspur Patrolman J. Scott Waterman saw a man walking west on Ward Street toward Magnolia Avenue about 6 a.m., stopped him and was told he wanted to find a bus stop for a bus to San Francisco. The man said he had been to a party in Marin City and was lost.

Minutes later, Waterman saw him running up Ward Street again.

The patrolman drove around the block and saw that the front window to the television shop at 25 Ward Street had been smashed. Television sets, radios and record players were stacked on the sidewalk outside.

Waterman called Corte Madera police for help in blocking an escape south on Magnolia Avenue. Corte Madera officers Charles Brobeck and Harvey O. Zion hurried to the scene and started a search of the area on foot.

They found a television set on a lawn and a record player hidden under a porch. Then Zion heard footsteps on the roof of a building, but a search there revealed no one.

Minutes later, Brobeck flushed Frank S. Perkins, 20, of San Francisco, out of some bushes where he was hiding at the rear of 113 Rice Lane. Patrolman Waterman said Perkins was the man he had stopped earlier.

Larkspur police said Perkins denied breaking the window but said he had seen the sets on the sidewalk and had taken one in hope of selling it for fare to San Francisco. He was booked in Marin County jail and held in lieu of $3,850 bail. He was due to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Novato Man Found Dead Of Gunshot

Mrs. Mary Ann Swanson heard a shot from the front room of the family home at 535 Eldridge Avenue, Novato, at 5:35 a.m. today and entered the room to find her husband, David Wesley Swanson, dead of a gunshot wound in the head, she told Novato police.

Swanson, who was 28, had been despondent, and had arisen several times during the night, Mrs. Swanson told Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley. She called police immediately after the shooting.

Bradley said a 30.06-caliber rifle was the death weapon.

Swanson, an electrician, had been employed by Ben Cantarutti, electrical contractor of Novato. He was working on the new Department of Motor Vehicles building in Corte Madera last Friday when he fainted, Bradley said. He was taken to Marin General Hospital, where he was diagnosed as suffering from nervous exhaustion, according to Bradley.

A native of Salem, Ore., Swanson had lived in California for nine years.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato.

Corte Madera Restaurant Safe Looted Of $3,000

A burglar forced his way into a back office at Bob's of Marin restaurant and opened a safe and locked desk, escaping with over $3,000 in cash, early today.

Corte Madera Police Inspector Harold N. Hockett said the safe was opened and then locked again, and that a hasp lock to the bar was twisted in a way only possible after it had already been opened.

He said it apeared the safe, although battered, was actually opened by some one who knew the combination, and that the bar had been unlocked, or the hasp unscrewed, before it was twisted. He said he believed it was an attempt to make the burglary appear to be a forced entry, although a key may have been used.

The total loss was not known by noon, because a check still had to be made on the Saturday bar receipts. But it was known that $960 in Friday coffee shop receipts, plus a $150 cash register "bank," plus weekend coffee shop receipts of $1,924 were gone.

Police said the bar was closed at 1 a.m. and the coffee shop was opened at 8 a.m., when the loss was discovered. The locked office door had been kicked in and the desk, secured by a bar across the drawers, locked with a padlock, had been forced open.

The cash register in the bar had not been opened.

'Winnie The Pooh' Set For Sausalito

A. A. Milne's "Winnie The Pooh" will be presented by the Bishop's Co. of Burbank, to children who attend study centers at Richardson Bay and Manzanita schools, Sausalito School District, at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday at Christ Episcopal Church, Sausalito.

The play is sponsored by Sausalito Rotary club.

Flying Deputies Spot Stray Motorcyclists, Nudist Pair

Sheriffs patrol groups using three airplanes launched their first drive over the weekend to enforce a new ordinance banning motor vehicles from fire and hiking trails.

As a "fringe benefit," they spotted a couple sunbathing in the altogether.

Sheriff's Capt. Sidney Stinson said the planes, piloted by members of the Sheriff's Air Patrol and with regular sheriff's deputies aboard as spotters, accounted for eight of 11 citations issued Saturday and yesterday under the new fire trails ordinance.

In addition, he said, about 55 warnings were issued to other cylclists and auto drivers.

Six jeeps manned by the Sheriff's Mounted Posse and county firemen supplemented the arial patrol.

Captain Stinson said main strategy was to spot cyclist groups from the air, then have ground units warn them before they actually invaded the trails.

One incident of a nude sunbathing couple sighted from the air was reported, but the man and woman were dressed on arrival of a jeep unit.

A verbal warning against nudity was issued, Stinson said.

The misdemeanor ordinance banning vehicles on fire and hiking trails resulted from complaints by ranchers of motorcycle riders breaking fences and gates, letting cattle loose, and causing disturbances along the trails.

Captain Stinson said the ordinance enforcement will continue throughout the county's hill areas—with the airborne peepers.

Mill Valley Gunman Gets $200, Flees

Service station attendant Albert Robinson was held up by a masked robber armed with a blue revolver Saturday night while checking receipts at Eberhart's service Station in Mill Valley.

The raider, with an elastic bandage covering most of his face, walked into the station at 10:12 p.m., just after closing time, and barked, "I want all the money or I'll shoot."

He dropped a white bag on the floor and told Robinson to fill it with money from the cash register. After emptying the takings into the bag, the attendant was ordered to lie on the floor while the robber escaped—with a haul of about $200.

The service station is at East Blithedale Avenue and Camino Alto.

Mill Valley police are not sure whether the hold-up man had a car.

He was described as a white male adult, five feet, 10 inches tall, about 170 pounds, wearing dark green pants and a dark cloth cap.

Police Chief Dan Terzich said today there does not appear to be any connection with the Sausalito armed robbery Friday in which a grocery store at 301 Caledonia Street was held up.

Novato School Boards Plan Twin Meeting

At 8 p.m. the new Novato Unified School district board will meet to ratify the action.

The trustees will award a contract for a portable office adjacent to the administration building.

The board will also go over the agreement with the San Rafael city schools covering education of the high school students from the San Jose district portion of the new district until they can be assimilated into Novato High School.

Other items to come before the new board include the salary schedule of administrative personnel, the teaching agreement with Sonoma State College, transportation for summer school, and employment of several teachers.

Belvedere Youth Accused Of Marijuana Possession

An 18-year-old Belvedere youth was arrested yesterday by Mill Valley police and booked in county jail on charges of possession of marijuana and narcotics equipment.

He is Willis Edwin Blackmore of 12 Bella Vista Avenue, son of Edwin L. Blackmore, coordinator of elementary and secondary education, county superintendent of schools office.

Belvedere and Mill Valley police, checking later in the youth's bedroom, found 50 marijuana seeds in a pill bottle on the headboard of his bed.

Young Blackmore told police he had been given the marijuana over a period of three months. He would not name the person from whom he obtained it.

Police officer Rodney Sheran stopped the youth at about 7:15 a.m. yesterday on East Blithedale Avenue near Camino Alto while investigating the holdup the previous night of Eberhart's service station.

During police questioning, he produced a cigarette which he said contained marijuana, Sheran reported.

Larry M. Urban of 777 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera, also told deputies that his scrambler motorcycle was stolen from his carport Thursday or Friday.

At Peacock Gap Swimming and Tennis Club, an outboard motor was carefully disconnected by thieves from a boat housed in the building and taken. Club official Robert A. Metzger told officers it disappeared in the last 10 days. Value was put at $350.

Couple Injured In Collision

Arthur Alberelli, 73, of 811 Tamalpais Avenue, Novato, and his wife, Rose, 71, were reported much improved at Novato General Hospital today after being injured in a truck accident Friday at 1:30 p.m.

Alberelli suffered a broken leg and fractured ribs and his wife, multiple bruises.

The elderly couple's pickup hit a large truck on the Point Reyes-Petaluma Road at Novato Boulevard. California Highway Patrol said the Alberelli vehicle pulled out into the path of the truck driven by Lanny Francis Walker of Travis Air Force Base. He was unhurt.

Alberelli was cited for failing to yield the right of way.

Mill Valleyan Found Dead Of Gunshot

Robert Spencer Williams, 68, of 250 Evergreen Avenue, Mill Valley, was found dead outside his home Saturday night, victim of a bullet wound in his head.

Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley said the wound was self-inflicted.

The body was found by Sheriff's Deputy Jerry L. Harmon. He found a .38 revolver next to the body.

William's roommate, Walter Muhlmann, had called the sheriff's office and reported he was worried about Williams because he was missing and despondent about ill health.

Williams is survived by a son, Spencer Williams of Los Angeles County.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel in Mill Valley.

Truck Driver Beaten By Two Youths

Truck driver Nathaniel R Saxlid of Marsh Road, Larkspur, was "unmercifully beaten" early yesterday when two youths tried to rob him in a parking lot, alleged San Rafael police.

Patrolman Phillip D. Green said Saxlid was kicked about the head and face and was bleeding profusely when taken to San Rafael General Hospital. He was released after treatment.

Booked on charges of attempted strong-arm robbery and assault were San Rafael students Robert Henry Gonzales, 16, of 433 First Street, and David Crinnion Lacey, 18, of 41 Dunfries Terrace.

Green claimed the youths approached Saxlid about 1:13 a.m. in the King Cotton parking lot at 831 Francisco Boulevard and asked him for money to get some gasoline for their car.

Saxlid refused but offered the pair a ride and they accepted. They had only gone a short distance when, said the youths, Saxlid made an improper suggestion.

The two then set upon him and beat him unmercifully, said Green. In the process one of Gonzales' shoes came off.

Finally the pair fled in their own car.

Frank C. Bossard pleaded guilty in the Old Bailey Court to five charges under the Official Secrets Act. He was liable to a maximum sentence of 70 years, 14 years on each count.

Sir Frederick Elwyn Jones, the attorney general, said Bossard had signed a confession claiming the Russians paid him only $14,000 from 1961 until he was arrested March 15 by special intelligence agents in a London hotel.

At the time of his arrest, Bossard was making $7,000 a year as an official in the Aviation Ministry's guided-weapons division.

BANDIT PASSES THE HAT, THEN PEDALS AWAY

OAKLAND (AP)—Robbery by remote control was the fate yesterday of the Lucky supermarket, now $3,500 poorer.

Police said a bandit pedaled to the store on a bicycle, crawled into an air vent, across the store's false ceiling and was waiting when assistant manager Jack White came to turn on a light.

In place of the light was an arm, a hand and a revolver, and a voice from above ordering White to "open the safe." The robber lowered his hat on a rope for White to put the money in. It was filled four times and the bandit disappeared.

'Petty' Wrongdoings Are Bad Examples For Youth

We've just observed Law Day, U.S.A.

Everything followed the script. We gathered together in local groups to re-dedicate ourselves to upholding law and order.

We heard speeches glorifying our system of laws, not of people. We listened gravely and nodded assent at the words of wisdom imparted to us.

We then hopped into our cars, headed out onto the highways, and probably proceeded to break a half dozen traffic laws on the way home.

We're a strange breed. By nature, we are a law abiding group of citizens. Our intentions are honorable. But when it comes to practical application of what we preach, we immediately begin to cut corners and bend the laws to suit our impatient tastes.

Marin County has its share of these well-intentioned law breakers.

We particularly condemn those who, while preaching obedience of laws to their youngsters, proceed to violate almost every traffic safety rule in the book, with their teen-aged children as passengers in the car.

We fudge a few seconds on signals, sneak an illegal left turn to save ourselves an extra block of driving, or breeze along the freeway far in excess of the maximum speed limit.

These may all be "minor infractions," to be sure. But a "little" wrong is no more defensible in principle than a "big" wrong.

In fact, a "little" wrong committed without the slightest qualm probably breeds in the minds of teen-agers more contempt for law and order than a major violation, accompanied by genuine remorse.

The latter at least acknowledges the existence of laws and recognizes that a wrong has been committed. The former shows complete disregard for law and encourages contempt of authority.

Parents who give lip service to abiding by the laws and then proceed to ignore those they find inconvenient at the moment cannot expect their children to remain pillars of virtue.

Those of us who violate traffic laws, especially with teen-agers as passengers, are in effect breeding lawlessness and encouraging youth to thumb their noses at constituted authority.

Let's practice what we preach. If we can't practice, we shouldn't preach.

The Marvel Of Electric Light

Among the wonders of modern life which every American takes for granted is electric lighting, yet many of our older citizens grew up in areas where the "coal oil" or kerosene lamp cast its soft glow after darkness fell upon the land.

In a way it was a rather soothing light, without the harshness of the incandescent bulb. But it was messy, smoky, a fire hazard, and murder to read by.

Today, except for maybe a few isolated farms and mountain communities and weekend retreats, we depend upon electricity to brighten our dark hours.

It's the wonder that everyone accepts as a matter of everyday convenience. But let the juice go off for 20 minutes after dark for some reason or other and we realize how much we depend upon it. Electricity is truly our most versatile servant.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Brillianty Simple Idea Should Thwart False Drivers' Licenses

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — Once in a while a legislator comes along with a bill that is so amazingly simple and effective, it's a wonder someone hadn't thought of it a long time ago.

THIS WOULD SEEM to be true of AB1543 by Assemblyman Joseph M. Kennick, D-Long Beach, known as the profile bill.

The measure, already approved by the assembly, provides merely that the department of motor vehicles shall demand proof of age for anyone under 21 or who appears to be under 21. If the applicant is a minor, his driver's license will be issued with the photograph taken in profile, rather than head-on.

Thus no amount of alteration of the age on the driver's license will help the minor use it for the purpose of buying liquor.

"Regardless of what it says on the license—if it says you're 127 years old — if it's a profile picture, you're a minor," Kennick said.

Driver's licenses are renewable on birthdays anyway, so this means that, when a minor becomes 21, he can get a new license with the head-on picture.

IT HAS BEEN an irony over the years that the driver's license has become the most popular form of identification. The licenses are used for ID, not only for purchase of liquor, but for cashing checks, making charge account purchases, or other transactions where identification is needed.

But the department of motor vehicles, up until now, has not been required to make any verification of the age stated by the applicant.

The retail liquor industry should welcome the bill like a long lost brother. Well over half of the alcoholic beverage control laws involve sales or service to minors.

The number of licensees throughout the state who intentionally sell liquor to minors is relatively small. The other sales very often involve falsified identification.

If the Kennick bill becomes law, the liquor industry finally will have a conclusive identification. Then the licensee who dispenses liquor to a person with a profile picture on his driver's license will have no defense.

IN THE PAST, there have been numerous proposals for issuance of an ID card. Such a bill was introduced again this year but it has met with no more success than before.

Probably the biggest drawback to the ID card is that it would make no provision for persons who came into California from out of state. It would deprive young-looking persons from out of state of the privilege of buying liquor.

The same will hold true under the Kennick bill, of course, but it will not involve all the work and expense of setting up separate ID cards.

IF A MINOR wants to get liquor, the chances are pretty good he will be successful one way or another. However, as long as the laws prohibit this, any means of making it more difficult should be a good move.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Viet Atrocities Pointed Out

Editor, Independent-Journal:

My congratulations to the I-J on its two excellent articles (May 1, 1965, pages 3 and 8) describing the horrible tortures which we are inflicting on the Vietnamese under the pretext that this is necessary for our successful (?) conduct of our war . . . and under the further pretext that they are practicing this same brutal, degenerate, filthy inhumanity against us, and therefore that justifies us in doing it to them. Two wrongs make a right you see.

. . . I recall so well how, when the tortures which the French were committing in Algeria were exposed in France in a book called "Le Gangrene," it so aroused the conscience of all decent French people against the war in Algeria that it helped considerably to force their government to terminate the war and stop murdering and torturing the poor Algerian peasants and workers fighting for freedom and independence.

Although your articles are certainly not the first published exposes of the atrocities which we are committing against the Vietnamese, Life magazine, for example, having had its share, nevertheless, that in no way lessens their valuable contribution toward arousing the conscience of the American people against our unGodly war against the poor Vietnamese peasants and workers.

Fairfax Councilmen Chided On Bridge

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Happy to see the I-J reporting all the news about our little City of Fairfax. I found the article about the Fairfax Council opposing the proposed Tiburon crossing very interesting.

Here sits a few men declaring "a second crossing would just bring more cars into Marin County anyway." These men forget that these cars are carrying the Marin County taxpayers to their jobs — and back again, by the fastest means possible today; the same people who are paying the bulk of revenue brought into the County.

Should these councilmen happen to rise early enough, they can drive to Corte Madera one business day and see cars backed up bumper to bumper and miles away from the one and only crossing available to them to get to their jobs. These cars are backed up today as they were along Lincoln Avenue in San Rafael in the days of the ferry boats.

The auto is here to stay; there is nothing better at the moment, so why not allow as many paying taxpayers in this area as possible. The bulk of employment remains in and near San Francisco and the present route is inadequate.

Water District Tax Possible

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The Marin Municipal Water District has reached a crisis in its long, successful and efficient operation since 1916.

With the slight change in upping the minimum water rates in 1962 the bulk cost of water has remained the same for almost 50 years.

The Water District is now faced with the fact that the present water rates are not sufficient . . .

Three courses of action are open . . .

1. Raise water rates . . .

2. Levy a real estate tax on all real estate within . . . the water district . . .

3. Combination of the above two . . .

Should the Water District board elect to raise operating income by a real estate tax, many unjust and inequitable results would come to pass.

First, military installations, being tax free . . . , would be furnished with free water at the expense of property owners.

Second, the various religious institutions . . . would be furnished with free water . . .

Third, all schools and municipalities . . . would be furnished free water . . .

Fourth, numerous properties within the district are not now being furnished with water and can't be served short of a huge outlay of money.

Fifth, the elderly, who own their own home and live frugally, would face an additional tax to pay the water bill of those who would be furnished free water.

Sixth, using a big commercial property such as Macy's as an example, who presently pay a tremendous real estate tax, and use the barest minimum amount of water, it would be manifestly unfair to tax their real property to supply water to tax free institutions.

. . . On May 12 the Water District will hold a public hearing on this question.

I urge the I-J to enquire into this matter and hope that you will use your very considerable influence to advocate the course of action that would make water users pay the operating costs of the water district.

Steam Roller Way Observed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I attended the San Rafael City Council meeting last night (May 3) at which Mrs. Strom was appointed to the San Rafael School Board. I saw a rather dramatic demonstration of Mrs. Strom's steamroller technique, carefully organized, taking full advantage of the sympathy for her "maligned character." Mayor Bettini's warning of her method of operation, so well dramatized at the Council Meeting and which had caused such furor at the San Rafael School Board meetings, was lost on the other council members as they dried their eyes.

Inasmuch as candidates for School Board in the past who have espoused her philosophy have done so poorly one has to wonder at our City Council and their lack of response to the electorate. Twenty-five people for one candidate win over more than 3,000 people voting for another candidate in a public election—this doesn't sound like democracy to me.

It is unfortunate that an appointment was necessary by the City Council since the council is not voted on by the Dixie School District nor a large area in the San Rafael School District which is outside the city limits of San Rafael. The appointment in all fairness should have been made by the San Rafael School Board.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A COUPLE of resourceful sprouts in the publishing area threaten a new book club designed solely to whet the appetites of the fresh and salt water anglers of America. Their fishy prospectus declares that subscriptions will be filled in order of their receipt, operations conducted on a broad scale, no flukey selections and all bonus porpoisely removed, members kept on the hook, no floundering by the judges, and a fair herring for all.

SILLY RIDDLE department:

Q. Why do elephants hate martinis?

A. Did YOU ever try to get an olive out of your nose?

Q. What's yellow, smooth, and dangerous?

A. Shark-infested custard.

Q. What's the best way to serve shrimps?

A. On your knees.

Q. How do you tell girl pancakes from boy pancakes?

A. By the way they're stacked.

Calendar Keeps Reminding New GOP Leader Of Vote In 1966

(While Roscoe Drummond is en route to Africa, his column will be written by guest writers.)

By RICHARD DOUGHERTY

WASHINGTON — The comfortable office of the Republican National Chairman at 1625 I Street is exactly as Dean Burch left it—with a single, and significant, exception.

On a wall, in place of one of Burch's photographs of an Arizona desert scene (the work of photographer Barry Goldwater) hangs a complimentary calendar from Nitschke Brothers, printers and stationers, of Columbus, Ohio.

IT IS A VERY plain, old-fashioned calendar. No richly colored scene of springtime in the Rockies, or cherry blossoms around the capital city's tidal basin. No razzmatazz.

But it is an object that tells volumes about the man who has put it there.

For one thing it says quite obviously that interior decoration is the last thing Ray Bliss is interested in. For another, it clearly reflects the Ohio veteran's awareness of how short a time he has—in practical political terms—to whip the GOP into shape for the 1966 general elections.

Judging by the way he has moved since taking over the chairmanship on April 1, it is apparent that Bliss intends to get as much out of every day on that calendar between now and next year's big test as it is humanly possible to do.

WITH LITTLE MORE than a month behind him, he has quietly but firmly recast the top echelon of the National Committee into a strictly Ray Bliss mold.

Gone are the ardent Goldwaterites who moved into key posts during the Burch regime. In their place, with a heavy dosage of Ohioans brought from Columbus, have come people whom Bliss knows and knows he can work with. Example: the new Women's Division head, Idaho's Mary Brooks who served under Bliss as vice-chairman of the Committee on Big City Politics in 1961.

MRS. BROOKS replaced Mrs. Pat Hutar, a devout Goldwater girl since the earliest days of the Goldwater - for - President exercise.

He has no taste for staff meetings. If he wants to see a department head, he calls him in. He has not observed the internal public relations convention of giving a pep talk to the committee employees en masse, and nobody expects that he will.

He has made one speech—to a GOP women's conference on the day he assumed office—and the prediction is that it will be a long time before he makes another one. He has had one backgrounder lunch with political writers, but no formal news conference. No reporter is holding his breath until one is called.

RAY BLISS IS a worker who knows he has a lot of work to do—nuts and bolts work having to do with prosaic matters like raising money and achieving real coordination of effort within a still-factionalized party. He has no time for frills and he has that calendar from Nitschke Brothers to keep reminding him of it.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Troops Need Sparks Demand For Reserve

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

Washington: The increasing troop demands of Communist-periled South Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic are seriously depleting the U. S. strategic reserve.

While this crucial military force, consisting of six Army and two Marine divisions, is nominally intact at home stations in the U. S., actually it is far below combat strength.

MORE THAN HALF of the battle effectives of these divisions are either in South Viet Nam or the Dominican Republic, or enroute to them.

By June 1, some 53,000 trained Army and Marine officers and men drained from these divisions will be in South Viet Nam. This is equivalent to three full-strength divisions —two Army, one Marine. In the Dominican Republic, unannounced plans call for a buildup to 16,000 Army and Marine troops—equivalent to one division.

All this fighting personnel has come from the strategic reserve.

In the opinion of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, no time should be lost in calling National Guard and Reserve units to active duty, or alerting them for such possible service.

Gen. Harold Johnson, Army Chief of Staff, is stressing that the 16 division limitation imposed on the Army by Secretary McNamara is creating its biggest manpower problem. The Army is finding it virtually impossible to meet the mounting requirements for troops to deal with "guerrilla brushfires" and at the same time maintain an effective strategic reserve for possible major confrontations with Russia or Red China.

ALSO POINTED OUT is that under the military budget submitted by President Lyndon B. Johnson for the fiscal year starting July 1, Army strength is to be pared to 953,094 from 963,273 this year, which in turn was cut more than 11,000 from last year; and the Air Force 809,134 from 828,551, which was 27,000 less than fiscal 1964.

However, Marine strength is increased slightly from 190,000 to 193,000; the Navy from 674,000 to 684,000.

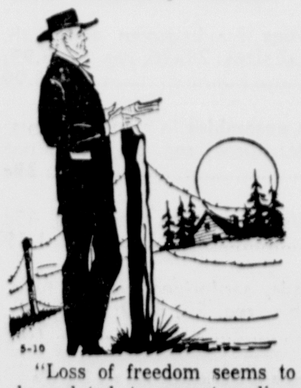

Yet despite these slashes, Secretary McNamara is saying that 350,000 U. S. troops will be required if Red China "strikes" in South Viet Nam.

The joint chiefs, in talks with congressional leaders, also are expressing uneasiness about the possibility of Communist-instigated outbreaks in Korea. Intelligence has been warning of this for several months.

Similarly, the Navy is urging Marine reinforcements for Guantanamo Bay, to cope with possible Communist revolts in Colombia, Guatemala and Venezuela.

ON APRIL 27, two days before U. S. Marines landed in the Dominican Republic, a Moscow broadcast in Portuguese to Brazil declared, "The U. S. is preparing an armed intervention in the Dominican Republic. An aircraft carrier and transport ships with 1,500 Marines have sailed in close to the Dominican shores and are awaiting the order to disembark. According to observers, the U. S. intends to use the evacuation of its citizens as a pretext for landing Marines. Our commentator, Vladislav Nesterov, says Latin America stands on the threshold of another aggression by U. S. imperialism."

Dad, Poor Old Dad, Someone's Hanged You In Garage To Die

Interview in the Future: The scene is a sidewalk in suburban Marin.

REPORTER: Here we are folks, at the site of the famous Parkerdink Garage. This is a street much like any other residential street in America, but of course, we know it is not the same. With me today is Miss Mabel Parkerdink who was just a little girl 20 years ago, but she remembers the day. Don't you Miss Parkerdink? Suppose you tell our listeners about it.

MISS P: Well, I suppose the best place to start is with the election. Father, you know, was very civic minded. He believed it was everyone's duty to vote, and when they asked if our garage could be used as a polling place, he was more than willing. Of course, none of us had any idea there would be this trouble.

REP: Exactly what happened?

MISS P: Who can answer that? All we know is that the advance election information went out without any addresses for the polling places. In those days there were a lot of people who had never heard of Parkerdink Garage.

Rep: This caused a problem?

MISS P: You better believe it. The night before the election, our telephone was ringing constantly. People had looked up the name in the book and were calling up for directions.

REP: Your father was angry?

MISS P: No. He took it very well. He told everyone there were nights when he had trouble finding the garage himself.

REP: He was able to keep his sense of humor then?

MISS P: For awhile he did, even after the election was over, he was able to laugh about it.

REP: Then what happened?

MISS P: Well, one morning when father went out to get the car — it was about a week after the election — there was this couple standing in the garage.

REP: A couple?

MISS P: Yes, two strangers. They had come to vote. Naturally father was embarrassed and the voters were embarrassed.

REP: Naturally.

MISS P: These kind of things kept happening. Strangers would come knocking on the door asking to be directed to the Parkerdink Garage. They'd have their voting registrations with them and had pretty well made up their minds on how they were going to vote. Father often got into some bitter arguments. The people could not be convinced the election was over, and they accused father of trying to take sides.

REP: That must have been difficult.

MISS P: You said it. People were getting voting instructions through the mail for years. Finally father put up a big sign on the garage. "The polls are closed," it said. I can remember it well.

REP: Did that help?

MISS P: Hardly at all Father was accused of denying voting rights. Finally he had the garage torn down.

REP: I suppose it was the only thing.

MISS P: Well, we thought our troubles were over, but unfortunately father was a changed man by then. He still thought it was his duty to vote, but he voted against everything.

REP: Oh, a negative streak, eh?

MISS P: It was an obsession. Everytime father heard about an election, he would jump in his car and zoom off to vote no. He'd go over to San Francisco and force his way into the polls to cast a no vote.

REP: Miss Parkerdink, I know this is painful for you. Maybe you'd rather not go on.

MISS P: No. it's all right. We're convinced father is still alive.

REP: I admire your faith.

MISS P : It's only been two years. That was when mother received her voting instructions. This created a problem, of course, because the garage had long been torn down. She had no place to vote. But father insisted that she send for an absentee ballot.

REP: Just to vote no?

MISS P: That's right, and father made mother write in his name rather than vote for any of the candidates.

REP: What happened then?

MISS P: Well, father got a five-pound box of candy from Virgil S. Hollis.

REP: You mean your father won the election?

MISS P: That's right. The trouble was that the absentee ballot they had sent mother was one left over from the San Jose School District, a district that had vanished in unification long ago. There was no district, there were no trustees. Father couldn't get a quorum.

REP: He must have been furious.

MISS P: He went straight to the county schools office to see what could be done.

REP: And?

MISS P: He hasn't been seen since.

ART BUCHWALD

Now Story Can Be Told Of How Mother's Day Came Into Being

WASHINGTON—Week before last President Johnson issued a Mother's Day proclamation, urging all people to express their love and gratitude for their mothers. The story behind this decision—now that Mother's Day is past—can now be told.

For weeks rumors had been rampant in Washington that the president would declare May 9 Mother's Day. But no high official was willing to confirm it. All queries were referred to the White House.

AT HIS PRESS briefing George Reedy said he knew nothing about the president's making a Mother's Day proclamation and to his knowledge the president had no plans to declare it an official holiday.

In the meantime, the president was meeting with national security adviser McGeorge Bundy and Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara to discuss the various possibilities. While Secretary of State Dean Rusk was not at the meeting, he was kept informed as to what was going on.

McNamara and Bundy both argued that something had to be done about Mother's Day before May 9 and that the president should be the one to explain it to the American people.

THE FIRST THING the president did was to call congressional leaders to the White House and inform them of his decision. Both Sens. Mike Mansfield and Everett Dirksen pledged their support to the president as did Congressmen Carl Albert and Gerry Ford.

AFTER THE congressional leaders left the White House, President Johnson telephoned former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and told him what he was going to do about Mother's Day.

President Eisenhower said, "If I was in your position, Mr. President, I would do exactly the same thing. I will issue a statement giving my whole hearted approval."

THE NEXT CALL the president made was to former Sen. Barry Goldwater. Goldwater pointed out that during his campaign he had always advocated a strong Mother's Day policy, and he was glad to see the president was finally following it. Goldwater said the president could count on him.

During the next week the president had Lou Harris, Sam Lubell, and George Gallup take polls to see what the consensus of the American people was in regards to a Mother's Day proclamation. Seventy-five per cent of the people said they believed in Mother's Day, 5 per cent were against it, and 20 per cent said that they had no opinion.

Encouraged by the polls, the president decided to act.

Win Over Koufax Boosts Giant Hopes—Again

By SCOTT BAILLIE

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants retained their hex over the magnificent Sandy Koufax today even if they have trouble beating anybody else.

After sustaining a 9-0 shellacking from the Los Angeles Dodgers on Don Drysdale's three-hitter Saturday, the Giants downed the league leaders and Koufax, 6-3, yesterday.

A Sunday crowd of 40,596 — the largest to brave the gales this year at Candlestick Park—watched the Giants erupt for four runs in the eighth inning to defeat the Dodgers and check their winning streak at five straight.

This also cut Koufax's lifetime mark over the Giants to 11-10 and left him without a win in the local park since Sept. 5, 1963.

Last year, Sandy dropped both of his two decisions against the Giants. But he still can fan them. He retired 13 on strikeouts in the seven plus innings he worked yesterday and now has struck out 10 or more men 62 times in his career.

Southpaw Johnny Podres (2-0) is listed to start for the Dodgers tonight in Los Aneles when they host the surging Houston Colts and Dick Farrell (3-1).

The Giants visit Santa Clara today for an exhibition game then open a three game series here Tuesda night with the Chicago Cubs. Jack Sanford 2-1 — may get the starting call against the Bruins.

"Happy Mothers Day, fellows," manager Herman Franks of the Giants rumbled after Sunday's win. Then he added, "I hope this starts us on the way up. But, come to think of it, I've said that several times before."

Koufax took the loss in stride. "The Giants were hitting me pretty well," the left-hander from Brooklyn said, "and I also had good stuff. I usually pitch all right against this team but haven't done any winning recently."

Koufax, who fired a no-hitter past the Giants two-years ago Tuesday, was charged with his second loss of the season against three wins during a tense eighth inning.

Willie Mays opened it by drawing a walk and Jim Ray Hart singled him to third. Jay Alou, who had hit a two run homer off Sandy in the fourth inning, tied the game with a single that scored Mays.

The hits sent Koufax to the showers. Jim Davenport next greeted reliever Bob Miller with a bunt to load the bases. A sacrifice fly by Ed Bailey and then Hal Lanier's sacrifice bunt brought in two more runs. Juan Marichal, who made a rare relief appearance and came out the winner, helped to nail down the triumph with a run scoring single.

Jay Alou's two-run homer in the fourth came on what Koufax described as a "high pitch." But the Dodgers evened up the score, 2-2, in the sixth when Willie Davis powered his fourth of the year over the right field fence after Wes Parker had singled.

Los Angeles took a 3-2 lead in the eighth as pinch-hitter Wally Moon delivered a bases loaded single off Marichal who had just taken over for Japan's Masanori Murakami.

There were two out when Moon, now four for four as a pinch hitter and with four RBI's in that capacity, connecte off Don Juan. Ron Fairly sought to streak home from second to score on the infield hit, a chopper that bounced over Marichal's head and rolled out toward second. But Lanier

Giants' Finest Hour Of 1965; Franks Makes All Right Moves

CONNOLLY

The upside-down S.F. Giants, after playing delinquent major league baseball, bobbed up with a whale of a ball game and redeemed themselves before more than 40,000 paid cutomers yesterday. It was their finest hour of the season and saw Manager Herman Franks making all the right moves at the right times to capture a glosious ball game 6 to 3.

Before yesterday's game it was hard to say nice things about the SF team. And then the Giants came back, lost all their frustration, and found a new way to win. The Dodgers, however, left for home with three out of four victories.

Gaylord Perry, 90 cents short of being a dollar's worth of pitching talent yesterday turned in a grand effort for almost eight innings. When he started to tire and with trouble facing him, the Giant skipper jerked him quickly and replaced him with Masanori Murakami. It was a great piece of showmanship on Herman Franks' part and Murakami proved himself by holding the Dodgers scoreless and then striking out a Dodger. Once again, the Giant manager, seeing danger facing Murakami, waved Juan Marichal to the ball game in relief, and the game was saved. It took a lot of doing in the Giants' half of the eighth to do it and four big runs came in before Sandy Koufax was chased.

THE EFFECT of Manager Franks' managerial wizardy sent a lot of people home satisfied that there is a deep desire on the part of the Giants to fight to the last drop for victory.

Up until yesterday Manager Franks hadn't showed too much knowledge on handling pitchers. But he came through with flying colors, to prove that even though he hasn't much of a staff, he does know how to use them when he smells victory.

TRYING TO field a team of able bodied men is the big task now of the Giant manager. He put forth a makeshift group yesterday with Harvey Kuenn on first base on account of Willie McCovey suffering from spike wounds. He also dropped young Jack Hiatt behind the plate to replace Tom Haller and the kid, while not hitting, turned in his most impressive game as a catcher.

The Dodger series, while not healthy from a winning standpoint dragged in over 112,000 paid admission. And that, brudder, can heal a lot of wounds.

Marin Cops J.C. League Net Title

Led by the dazzling performances of Harvey Klyce and Rich Creighton, College of Marin's netters swept to victory in the Golden Valley Conference tennis tournament at Santa Rosa.

Klyce won the singles championship and teamed up with Creighton to win the doubles title in the meet held Friday and Saturday.

Klyce, a product of San Rafael High School, blanked Doug Quinn of Santa Rosa 6-0, 6-0 in the title match Saturday. Klyce and Creighton, a grad of Tamalpais High School, had it easy in the doubles finals, banging home a 6-0, 6-1 triumph over Bob Andreozzi and Dave Johnston of Santa Rosa.

Klyce and Creighton now go to the Northern California Sectional tournament at San Francisco's Golden Gate Park courts next Friday and Saturday.

Lots Of Yachts, But Who Are Winners?

Officials of the Yacht Racing Assn's. opening Richmond to Vallejo round-trip test were still checking the records today after a record number of entries went after the prizes over the weekend.

Some 492 boats entered the two-day regatta, largest number in Pacific Coast Racing history. Official results of the race may not be known for several days, according to the race committee.

Four skippers seemed assured of victory today, however. Bob Damner's IC-33 class Damnear I; John Matarangas' Rhodes-33 Neveille; Bob Potter's Alberg-35 Touche, and John Rumsey's Bird Class Oriole all were guaranteed wins because of victories in both 20-mile runs, to and from Vallejo.

Baruna, the pretty 72-foot yawl piloted by Jim Michael, of Belvedere, led the huge fleet Saturday in the first half of the regatta, covering the 20 miles in 2 hours, 42 minutes, elapsed time, for victory in the cruising club Division A. But handicaps have yet to be figured in the race, for both the Saturday or Sunday runs.

In one of the tight battles of the Saturday run, John Matarangas piloted his Rhodes 33 class Reveille just in front of Fred McCarthy's Caper and Jim Lucas' Rebel.

IN OTHER racing action Saturday, Sam Martini took out the olive and skippered his boat "Dry Martini" to victory in the Oakland Yacht Club race over a 14-mile course started and ended at Jack London Square, with a trip around Treasure Island.

Martini, commodore of the Oakland Yacht Club, took the overall title with 140 points in addition to the Class A victory.

PREP SWIMMING

Marin Champions Steal NCS Show

With the grandstands packed by about 500 spectators, Tom Knopf and Jim Allen of the Marin champion San Rafael High School team stole the show at the North Coast Division III swimming meet Saturday at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley.

Allen not only was a double winner in the meet, but was a double record breaker. And the boys were in some stiff competition with swimmers from four leagues competing — Marin Athletic, North Bay, Catholic and Eureka.

Allen established new records in the 100 and 200-yard freestyle events, winning the 100 in 50.5 and the 200 in 1:53.4.

Teammate Knopf, considered perhaps the best all around prep swimmer in Marin County, shattered the standard in the 100-yard butterfly with a clocking of 54.7, knocking 1.3 second off the old mark.

In all, there were a total of six varsity records broken and three Class B marks eclipsed. Another Class B record was tied.

In Class B action, Drake's Bob Girvin snapped the meet record in the 100 backstroke, splashing to a 1:03.8 time, and the Terra

A Victory For The Automatic

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — Texan Jim Hall has proved again that racing cars can well use automatic transmissions.

Hall, of Midland, Tex., piloted his automatic Chaparral to an easy victory yesterday in the 150-mile U.S. Road Racing Drivers championship race at Laguna Seca Raceway near here.. His average speed was 94.62 m.p.h. on a 1.9-mile nine-turn track. It was his second win in a week.

In the 100-mile manufacturers' competition Ken Miles of Los Angeles, in a Ford Cobra, finished .16 of a second ahead of Ed Leslie of Monterey, Calif., in a Cobra. Miles averaged 88.49.

Leslie also drove in the drivers' championship, where he finished second in a Genie.

Hall took an early lead though challenged for four laps by Leslie, but the Chaparral was never seriously threatened.

In the day's opening event Earl Jones of Los Angeles won the formula championship in a Brabham Ford formula B with an average speed for the 44.16-mile race of 87.69 m.p.h.

COLLEGE TRACK ROUNDUP

Stanford Quartet Cracks World 440 Relay Mark

FRESNO (AP)—Stanford and Oklahoma State today have new world record performances pending official recognition after the weekend of the West Coast Relays produced a series of great collegiate performances.

As in any good Western, the Cowboys and Indians shared the spotlight.

The Cowboys of Oklahoma State sped to a world record - shattering performance in the two-mile relay after Stanford's Indians raced to a 440-relay record.

Most unexpected was the Indians' performance when they posted a time of 39.7 seconds which eclipsed the mark set last year by an Australian National team at 39.9.

After winning the 100 in 9.3 seconds, Larry Questad anchored a team with Eric Frische, Dale Rubin and Bob McIntyre to the record. His performance earned Questad the outstanding athlete award.

Moments after the Indian uprising, the Oklahoma State quartet sped over the fast Ratcliffe Stadium clay in 7:18.3 to better the world standard of 7:19 shared by Villanova and Oregon State.

Jimmie Metcalf, John Perry, Ton Von Ruden and Perry's brother, Dave, far outdistanced second place Southern California. When the time is submitted for approval, it will read 7:18 2-5 because international rules require rounding to the nearest one-fifth of a second at distances of more than one mile.

UCLA won the distance medley (880, 440, 1,320 and mile) relay in national record time of 9:33.9. No world record is recognized in this event.

Brigham Young became the first non - California school to win team honors by scoring 32 points to 31 each for USC and San Jose State. Pre-meet favorite New Mexico scored 30.

For the first time, the meet did not have the sanction of the Amateur Athletic Union. The two-day event was sanctioned by the NCAA-backed United States Track and Field Federation so was strictly collegiate and schoolboy.

The same situation exists for Friday night's Coliseum Relays in Los Angeles where the big attraction will be Texas Aggie shot putter Randy Matson. He broke the 70-foot barrier last Saturday with a heave of 70 feet 7 inches at College Station, Tex.

At Fresno, there were AAU timers but this isn't expected at Los Angeles where the AAU says it won't allow its watches to be used.

In the West Coast event, Gerry Lindgren of Washington State frosh, won the two-mile run, bettering the national collegiate freshman record by 13.3 seconds with an 8:40.1 clocking.

The University of California's mile-relay team won its 21st consecutive race with a 3:09.5 effort. Ed Caruthers of Santa Ana Junior College high jumped 7 feet ¼ inches for a meet record and Larry Godfrey of San Diego State set another with 51.2 for the 440-yard hurdles.

Marin Girls Capture AAU Swimming Titles

A pair of first places by Robin Bachrach and another blue ribbon triumph by Roberta Shistar highlighted Marin County swimmers' performances in the fifth annual AAU-sanctioned Aquabears Swim Meet at Walnut Creek over the weekend.

Miss Bachrach, swimming unattached, won the age 10 and under 50-yard freestyle in 31.5 seconds and the 50 fly in 33.8 while Miss Shistar won the age 13-14 100 fly in 1:06.4, swimming for the Marin Pirates club. Both girls were entered in the "A" group.

In B group, the Marin Pirates picked up six fore ribbons. Peter Locati took a third and fourth, Liz Locati a fourth and sixth, Terry Shistar a second and Claudia Warner a fifth.

got the ball and nailed him on the throw to catcher Jack Hiatt. The play retired the side.

Marichal had taken over after Murakami who was placed on the active list Saturday night, first had hit John Roseboro to load the bases then got Ji Lefebvre on a called third strike.

The shuffling developed when Lou Johnson, a right handed hitter, came up to face southpaw Murakami. Franks then waived in right-hander Marichal and Johnson was replaced by the southpaw swinging Moon.

In this case, Moon got his hit instead of becoming just another at bat.

Tar Nine Loses 2, Now 5-5

College of Marin baseballers are looking forward to a winning season when they close out their season next Saturday with a doubleheader at Napa.

Marin's record fell to 5-5 in Golden Valley Conference play last Saturday as the Tars lost a doubleheader to Sierra at Rocklin, 4-1 and 7-3. Santa Rosa has already clinched the championship, the Bear Cubs holding a 9-1 record with only two games to play. Shasta, with a 4-4 record, is also out of the title chase.

Getting hits for Marin in the first game Saturday were Joe Hebel with a triple, Roger Schlecht and Denny Thorne with two hits each, Mike Young, Chuck Overmeyer and John Odetto with a hit apiece. Losing pitcher was Jim Timmel.

In the second game, Odetto had a double and single, Fred Mack had a single, Bill Brody had two singles, and Overmeyer had a double and single. Overmeyer was the losing pitcher in that one.

"We've been practicing at night at high schools, in San Rafael, and in San Anselmo," said coach Ed Grimm about the team's lack of a field in Kentfield. "The kids deserve a lot of praise for doing such a good job without a field of their own."

Line scores of Saturday's doubleheader:

BUILDERS END 3-YEAR JINX

Three years of frustration came to a glorius end for the Billings-Hutchison Builders of Marin yesterday when they finally beat their old nemesis, Milen's Jewlers, in a hard-fought semi-pro baseball game at San Rafael's Albert Field.

The Builders, who had lost to Milen's 12 straight times over the past three years—11 of them by one run—gave the Jewelers a taste of their own one-run medicine with a 2-1 victory.

Heroes for the Builders were plentiful, but when the dust had settled John Brookman stood at the head of the class for it was his second inning double that drove across both runs. Don Lauters opened the second with a walk, Jesse Munyon singled, Doug Wilson sacrificed them into scoring position and Brookman delivered the clutch blow. Milen's scored its lone run in the first inning.

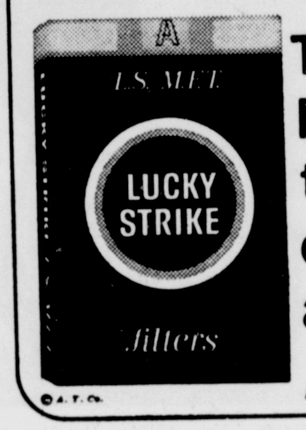

The game primarily was a defensive struggle as the Builder infield combination of Lauters, Jess Jacinto and Dick Spackman cranked off five double plays while the Jewelers turned in three twin-killings.

Sharing mound honors for the Builders were Mort Ek, Dave Hughes and Larry Calof with Ek getting credit for the win. The trio held Milen's to four hits.

Other hitters for the Builders, who are now 14-2 on the year, were Wilson with a pair of singles and Vince Pallavicini with a double.

Bulldog Is Top Batsman

Ken Lampert, hard-hitting shortstop for the San Rafael Bulldogs, took over the individual batting leadership in the Marin Athletic League last week, statistics showed today.

Lampert collected 3 hits in 7 at-bats last week, boosting his season totals to 11 for 23 and a .478 average. Last week's leader, Terra Linda's Fred Daniele, went 1 for 5 in two games and dropped to second place in the individual race with a .455 figure.

In pitching ranks Redwood ace Scott Murphy became the league's winningest hurler when he beat Terra Linda 2-1 Friday night for his fourth victory in five decisions.

That game Friday put Redwood on top of team standings with a 6-1 record and knocked Terra Linda out of first place the first time this season. The Trojans also lost to Drake Tuesday as their record slumped to 5-2.

Wily Machen Tests Power Of Bull-Like Rush Tonight

Rated heavyweight Eddie Machen pits experience and endurance tonight against the youth and strength of Elmer Rush in a scheduled 10-rounder at San Francisco Civic Auditorium.

The 32-year-old Machen has a 47-6-2 record with 29 knockouts and only one knockout loss. Rush, 24, has an 11-1-1 record with seven first round knockouts to his credit.

Rush, a talkative waterfront cargo handler, hopes to make Machen his fourth straight knockout victim. Machen went the distance with such crushing punchers as Sonny Liston and Cleveland Williams and doesn't figure he'll miss round 10.

In fact, Machen predicts an early knockout over Rush. He'll be giving away about 20 pounds and three inches in height to the 6-3, 212-pound Rush, a former Army champion.

Machen's last fight was a slow 15-round defeat at the hands of Ernie Terrell in the World Boxing Association heavyweight championship match. Machen is ranked eighth by Ring magazine and fourth by the WBA.

First bout on the all-heavyweight card promoted by Marin County resident Benny Ford starts at 8:30 o'clock.

Cummins Wins Meet

Neil Cummins School scored 177 points to win the seventh annual Hart Relays Saturday at Redwood High School. Next were Hall 143, Del Mar 23, Ross 10 and Kent 9. The meet was for both boys and girls.

NEW 'BIRD' INVADES LAKE

The ever-present ducks at Oakland's Lake Merritt squawked in dismay and took cover Saturday when their domain was invaded by a strange new creature—a hovercraft. The lake was used to demonstrate the new-type commute transport vehicle, which will begin operating across San Francisco Bay early this summer between Oakland Airport, San Franisco Airport and downtown San Francisco. Two Marin City Girls Held On Shoplifting

Two Marin City girls, aged 16 and 17, were arrested in the Corte Madera Shopping Center Friday and sent to juvenile hall after security officer Timothy Murphy reported seeing one girl take baby socks in the Montgomery Ward and Co. store.

Police said the girls were carrying a pair of shoes from the Thrifty Drug Store, some baby undershirts from W. T. Grant Co., a smock from the Anita Dress Shop, and a pink nightgown and baby pants from Ward's.

'Fantasticks' Big Treat For Marin

A crowd of about 800 saw and heard "The Fantasticks," in an unusual musical which has had a near-record off-Broadway run in New York, performed by its road company last night in the new College of Marin gymnasium.

The play-goers found they had a treat.

Played virtually without scenery (Fernando Toro plays the part of a wall), the fast-paced two-act musical allegory is unusual also in having neither chorus nor orchestra. Accompaniment was by Alice Dillon Stevens on the harp and Dan Demaree on the piano— and sometimes by some of the actors on tom-toms.

The cast of eight, headed by David Canary as the narrator, Chris Callan as the girl and David Michael as the boy, are all accomplished actors; and the principals' singing left little to be desired.

The production was sponsored jointly by the Newman Club and student executive council. It was the first sponsorship by the Newman Club, Catholic men's organization which was introduced on the College of Marin campus only this year, and which now has 48 chapters in the Bay Area.

Three Fields Films Slated

Guest performer will be Homer Welch, who appears on radio station KCBS as "Friendly Clyde."

Taranto Declines To Quit City Post

Irwin F. Taranto has no intention of resigning from the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission. He so informed the city council in a letter delivered today.

Taranto's resignation was asked by unanimous vote of the council last Monday night. During the recent council campaign in which he was an unsuccessful candidate, Taranto decried "complete lack of pride in the city by its people," called for getting rid of the city council and declared he could "find nothing to be proud of in San Rafael except its wonderful people and its beautiful natural landscape that is about to be destroyed."

Councilman Louis H. Bud Baar suggested last week that a man with such views scarcely belongs on a city commission.

In his letter to the council, Taranto said:

"In the question of whether or not to resign from the parks and recreation commission, I must base my decision purely upon my effectiveness as a commissioner in carrying out the policies of the city. In this regard, I feel that I have been effective . . .

"My statements in the past election campaign have no bearing on my position as commissioner. The right of any candidate to make strong critical statements in the course of a political campaign, in order to unseat an incumbent, must never be denied in these United States. I was never critical before the election campaign, nor have I been critical since.

"In conclusion, I must decline resigning at this time as there is no basis for me to do otherwise."

After the vote last Monday to ask for Taranto's resignation, Councilman Charles W. Aby commented, "If he doesn't resign, we'll dismiss him."

Members of the parks and recreation commission are not appointed to fixed terms. They therefore serve at the pleasure of the council, according to City Atty. David Menary Jr.

Landlord Asks County To Repay His Expense

Carl Rickards of Woodland Development Co., San Rafael, says the County of Marin owes him $578 in a rental deal that never went through.

In a letter to the board of supervisors, Rickards said he remodeled a building at Woodland Avenue and Dubois Street in San Rafael on assurance by Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows that the county wanted to rent it for storage of supplementary text books.

Rickards said he had the floor in the building sealed and installed a heater and lighting. The 3,600 square feet of space was to be rented to the county for $300 a month.

However, on March 17 Rickards learned that the deal had fallen through.

Barrows explained today that the plan was to move the text books into the Woodland Development Co. building on an interim basis until the McGraw-Hill Book Co. building in Corte Madera becomes available a year hence. He said the move to Rickards' building had not had the approval of county librarian Virginia Keating, and the board of supervisors does not have the legal authority to order the move without Mrs. Keating's approval.

Barrows said she was not approached because he assumed she would not approve an interim move. The matter was simply dropped.

Bay Area devotees of the grand manner costume ball will converge in the IDESST Hall in Sausalito May 22, for the annual fund-raising dance of the Sausalito Nursery School.

Titled "The Exhibitionists' Ball," this year's production borrows its theme from Moussorgsky. Following a "Pictures-at-an-exhibition" motif, guests' disguises may well range from depictions of Mona Lisa and Seurat Park scenes to pop art soup cans.

BESIDES looking like art works guests will be given the opportunity to paint their own original art creations. Paints and brushes, blank frames and still life arrangements will await their talents.

Nursery school members are collecting paintings donated by local artists for a silent auction. Prospective art donors may phone Mrs. Howard Shapiro to arrange for pickup service and also to inquire about the special compensation being offered for their kindness.

A highlight of the evening will be the literal unveiling of the buffet supper, which will be an 8 ft. by 16 ft. work of art in itself. Designed and executed by artist Kathleen Ksandra, it will be an edible collage in the form of a reclining figure, completely consumable right down to her lady-finger fingers.

CATAGORIES of awards for costumes are: Gilbert Stuart award, best costume man; Whistler's mother award, Best costumed woman; Rodin "Kiss" award, best costumed couple; Breughel award, best costumed group; Renoir award, most beautiful costume; Gauguin award, most exotic costume; Hieronymus Bosch award, most imaginative costume; Jasper Johns award. funniest costume; Norman Rockwell award, most authentic costume; Walter and Margaret Keane award, most horrifying costume; Picasso award, best import; and Grandma Moses, best primitive.

AMONG costume judges will be artist Missy Camp, sculptor Art Grant, "The Committee" member Larry Hankin and the Tides bookstore Herb Beckman.

The Strugglers of Red Garter fame will provide dance music throughout the evening.

Under the direction of fund-raising chairman Mrs. Charles Ashley the ball is being staged by these nursery school members: Mrs. Nick Reynolds, General chairman; Mrs. Howard Shapiro, silent auction; Mr. James Betts buffet supper; Mrs. Kathleen Ksanda and Mrs. Donald Taylor, art direction; Mrs. Jerome Oremland, dance tickets; Mesdames Robert Perper, Mary Tilden Strebeigh and Eugene Huggins, prizes; and Mrs. Earl Gates, publicity.

Mrs. Oremland is taking reservations.

EXPLORING CREATIVITY

Need For More Appropriate Culture Seen For Americans

First of three articles based on the programs "Exploring Creativity," sponsored by the Mill Valley Branch, American Assn. of University Women held at the College of Marin the past month.

By BARBARA HOSMER

The time is out of joint and our current American concern with such things as creativity will vanish when it is set right —this is the contention of a San Francisco State College social scientist who presented a sweeping outline of his theory of cultural history, adding that it was "presumptuous, of course . . ."

The professor, Dr. Otto Butz, suggests that human needs may be seen as organic or innate needs, and those needs that are culturally determined; and, he said, anxieties too may be organic—getting food, shelter or maintaining health—or culturally induced.

"Most of the things people are anxious about today are culturally induced — success, appearance, your image, what the family says," Dr. Butz said.

In judging a culture you have to ask how appropriate and sufficient it is to satisfy people's innate needs, Dr. Butz explained. Western culture is not made for the experiences we are now undergoing, he stated.

"The whole system of ideas of Western culture was thought up a long time ago, and in times of stress it no longer works.

When cultural and organic needs are different then there is pressure to escape—the culture has become inappropriate. You would expect that an inappropriate culture would become revised to fit actual circumstances," he said.

"But if it is not, you get neurotic compensation — reactions of withdrawal and disgust with the system as exhibited by the behavior of the beatnik, for example.

"Or, you get the reaction of activism," he said, which explains the current U.S. enthusiasms for such things as "creativity" and the various group movements now underway.

"But in the United States the innate needs are beginning to break through the crust of traditional Western civilization.

"In the American family the paternal authoritarianism has broken, American women have gained economic opportunity and escaped enslavement, and in theology new ideas are breaking through," Dr. Butz said.

"In America today there is the biggest breakthrough of innate human needs trying to express themselves that has taken place in the past 2,000 years," he stated. "It's terrifying and fascinating."

In America we are luckier than in Europe because Americans have not had as deeply ingrained traditions of Western civilization. They have always been diluted stuff here, he said, and hence will be easier to change.

He remarked that to some, Western civilization today has come to mean only their father's Cadillac and their mother's dishwasher, and "unless you have some kind of vision or formulated ideas you have nothing.

"The European idea system is still trapped in existentialism," said the Rumanian-born professor, "and extremist young Europeans are hung up in ideas that are sterile."

Dr. Butz said that in the United States things are less hidebound and thus "if he has the freedom the young American can piece together a new culture even though it may take centuries."

Right now people here feel anxieties about creativity, which is an expression of innate human needs, because "they don't want to be sat upon by people with old useless ideas," he said. Once new forms are found and reactionaries put to rest, there won't be such as great concern with creativity, he stated.

He sees a need for a breakthrough of human nature expressed in all areas of life—creativity is encouraged, cultural differences between men and women are breaking down, and there is more concern with the uniqueness of an individual even though we are in a period of great standardization.

"Non-representational art is proof of human nature breaking through standard cultural forms," Dr. Butz said.

From where will the breakthroughs come? Dr. Butz believes they will stem mainly from the improvisers—the people who are living within conventional institutions and are groping so that their experiments in some combination

Mrs. Edith MacCubbin Cited For Her Work As Volunteer

The Volunteer Bureau of Marin County, Inc. has selected Mrs. Edith MacCubbin of Santa Venetia as its Volunteer of the Month.

A native of San Francisco, Mrs. MacCubbin has lived in Marin County since 1943. The family home was in Corte Madera, where her three children were reared. Mrs. MacCubbin now lives in a rest home in Santa Venetia.

Her hobbies are reading, knitting and working as a volunteer. She first learned of the possibilities for volunteer work through her daughter-in-law, who was working for the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children in San Rafael. Since January Mrs. MacCubbin has spent countless hours at home addressing envelopes for the Marin Museum Assn. and doing clerical work for the Marin Youth Employment Committee.

This month Marin County is paying special tribute to its Senior Citizens. There are many hundreds of older people who are contributing their skills and experience to the organizations to which they belong. Senior citizens meet with committees and boards of welfare and fraternal organizations. Others are able to work at home, making things for fund-raising activities and for charitable work. Mrs. MacCubbin is representative of many who are giving of their time to organizations throughout the county.

Senior citizens may register at the Volunteer Bureau singly or in groups. The Volunteer Bureau is sponsored by the Junior League of San Francisco, Inc. and is located at 725 A St., San Rafael.

The psychiatrists, he believes, bridge the gap between the world as organized and the other part of the self they want people to face up to.

"Already human nature is beginning to break through—there is real concern with the individual in America."

The intellectual philosophers are trying to make sense of the whole system—but the scholars in the big universities are not involved in the change, still operating in institutionalized concepts.

"To the extent that we get through with expressions of our innate needs and get a culture appropriate to these needs, then we won't get the extreme activism we have now."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Being A Gentleman Has Its Drawbacks When Playing Game

Many years ago, when I was learning to play tough bridge, an expert of the older generation gave me some advice: "If you want to be a gentleman, do it on your own time — not when you're my partner."

The experience came back to mind when I read Edgar Kaplan's new book, "Competitive Bidding."

SOUTH
♠ Q 10 9 6 5 3

♣ 8 4

East	South	West	North
1 ♣	2 ♠	3 ♡	3 ♠
4 ♡	Pass	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	Pass	Double	All Pass

Opening lead — ♣ 9

South's weak jump overcall, recommended by most of today's experts, showed little defensive strength but a pretty good trump suit, probably of six cards.

NO DEFENSE

North could tell that there was no defense against four hearts; so that a sacrifice at four spades was a good idea.

South had to play carefully to limit the penalty to 300 points. When East led the third round of clubs, South ruffed with the queen but was over-ruffed.

West cleverly led a low heart to give East another chance to lead clubs.

WON EASILY

This time South could not afford to ruff. Declarer discarded a diamond and then easily won the rest of the tricks. Down two, for a good sacrifice.

North gave the hand a "gentleman's auction" by allowing East to show his heart support fairly cheaply.

This told East's full story, so that he could afford to pass over four spades, leaving the decision up to West.

JUMP TO FOUR

If North were a bridge player rather than a gentleman, he would jump to four spades instead of bidding it by degrees. Forced to decide all by himself, West would surely bid five hearts and would lose 50 instead of gaining 300 points.

Good competitive bidding tends to bring in a few hundred points several times per session. In the average session it costs you more than a thousand points to be a gentleman.

This is splendid if you have a noble spirit, but if you're not quite that generous make sure that you read Kaplan's new book.

DAILY QUESTION

Dealer, at your right, opens with 1 NT.

You hold:

♠ Q 10 9 6 5 3
♥ 6 5
♦ A 8 7
♣ 8 4

What do you say?

Answer: Pass.

You would jump to two spades against a suit-bid, but you can't afford to monkey around after a bid of one no-trump because the next player knows his partner's hand and will know whether or not to double against penalties. You can afford to overcall against a notrump opening only when you have unbalanced distribution.

Drunken Woman Driver Fined

Ann Guerry Benton, 48, of Sausalito, was fined $276 Thursday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving in an April 18 traffic accident which injured two persons.

She originally was booked for investigation of felony drunken driving, but was charged with the misdemeanor offense. Officers said her car and a vehicle driven by William David Keeler, 34, of Gate Six Road collided on Bridgeway in Sausalito.

Miss Benton of 45 Cable Roadway, pleaded innocent and submitted the case on the police report. Judge Joseph G. Wilson found her guilty.

Also fined $275 for drunken driving was Peter Mario Poletti, 65, of Petaluma. He was arrested May 6 on Highway 101 by California Highway Patrol. Poletti, who had a prior conviction, was further sentenced to 30 days in county jail.

German prospectors have struck natural gas under the North Sea, and experts believe major oil deposits will be found there.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Finland Cares For Children With Long-Term Sicknesses

VAN DELLEN

The Children's Castle in Helsinki, Finland, is a hospital for youngsters with long-term illnesses. It has 70 beds for medical patients, 40 for neurological patients, and 90 for psychiatric patients. An elementary school is operated in the castle with special classes and teaching procedures for the physically handicapped and spastics whose intellectual development is normal. Children with speech or writing difficulties have special teachers to help them. Many come from homes where the emotional environment is known to be the fundamental cause.

THE SWIMMING pool is a favorite device employed by the physical therapy department. The occupational ward has trained therapists to direct youngsters in making toys and useful utensils. The children spend their leisure time in group outings, home play to simulate situations that occur outside the hospital, and cooking lessons.

Throughout the treatment period the parents or guardians attend regular discussions with the physician, child psychiatrist, or social worker to discuss the tyke's progress.

While browsing through my files, I found a folder containing a dozen old letters about persons with eyes of different colors. The search was prompted by seeing a girl with a blue- and a brown-colored eye. The condition (heterochromia) is rare in animals. In many instances the difference in color or shade is difficult to detect.

TWO LETTERS told of individuals with different-colored eyes and eyelashes. One was a beautiful blonde who had a blue eye with blonde lashes on one side and a brown eye with black lashes on the other. The other had the combination blue iris, blonde lashes and brow on one side, with black iris, black lashes and brow on the other.

A school teacher wrote of twins in her class; the only way she could tell them apart was by the coloring of their eyes. One had two light-blue irises and the other a blue- and a brown-colored iris.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

OBSTRUCTION OR BACTERIA

B. D. writes: What causes appendicitis?

REPLY

It is caused by an obstruction, infection, or a combination of both. The appendix is a narrow, blind tube exposed to the constant flow of intestinal contents. Now and then, the material gets in, blocks the opening, and the bacteria in the static fecal substance invades the wall of the appendix.

TURPENTINE

E. K. writes: I live in a steam heated apartment and put two tablespoonfuls of pure turpentine in the radiator water pans to moisten the air to make it easier to breathe. I find it helps. Any harm in this?

REPLY

No, but the turpentine is not needed because it does not hasten or slow down the evaporation of the water and has no medicinal value.

ARTISTIC BENT

S. B. writes: What does it mean when a person doodles?

REPLY

He draws, sketches, or makes designs while listening to others talk over the phone or at a lecture. This is normal and having copies of aimless scribbling by famous people must be an interesting hobby.

CALL ME SNOOZY

J. O. writes: Is there any truth to the statement that you can sleep your brains away?

REPLY

No, but we sometimes suspect it about those who sleep half their life away.

Today's Health Hint — Everyone has good qualities.

Army Colonel Retires To Marin Home

Army Lt. Col. Rolland E. Broadwell of 5 Baja Court, Corte Madera, has retired at the Presidio of San Francisco after 25 years of service.

He entered the Army as a National Guardsman in Oregon and was assigned to the 41st infantry division when his unit was called to active duty early in World War II. He completed engineer officers' school in 1942 and served in the European theater with the 289th engineer battalion.

After the war, he served in Manila, Korea, Japan, France and Cambodia. He has been recorder of the Sixth Army physical evaluation board since February, 1964.

Colonel Broadwell holds the Army bronze star medal, the commendation medal with oak leaf cluster and the Navy presidential unit citation.

ABC Board Files Against Topless Clubs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Alcoholic Beverage Control Board has filed accusations against two restaurants in North Beach because they employ waitresses in revealing dress.

The accusations filed Friday against the Off Broadway and The Cellar Club could result in the suspension of the clubs' liquor licenses. Both club owners were acquitted in municipal court Friday of charges they managed "disorderly houses."

Both clubs have 20 days to answer the charges or to accept the accusations and the penalty.

The usual penalty is a 30 day suspension of the club's liquor license and a year's probation.

Stinson Beach Fire Budget Increases

Stinson Beach Fire District commissioners Thursday set a $14,840 fiscal 1966 budget, an increase of $2,000 over the current year, and agreed to try to hold the tax rate at the present 56 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Increase is due to higher insurance, the final payment on fire equipment, and an expanded educational program for firemen, reported Mrs. Harriet M. Greene, assistant secretary. The board plans to adopt a final budget at 8 p.m. June 23 in the community center.

Sausalito Schools Due Less State Aid

Assistant county schools Supt. Robert Stannard has denied that Sausalito schools would have gotten a $44,000 "bonus" if unification of the Tamalpais High School District had been approved by voters April 20.

A story in Wednesday's Independent-Journal said the Sausalito School District would have received the sum on top of its present state aid. Instead, Stannard said, the district now will lose $44,000 from present aid under the complex state formula on unification.

Art, Garden Premium List Now Ready

Twentieth annual Marin Art and Garden Fair premium books, listing cash awards to exhibitors totalling $16,671 for the July 1-5 event, are out and ready for distribution, according to Mrs. Marcelle B. McCoy, fair manager.

The awards will be distributed to winners in classifications including garden collections, amateur specimen plants, cut flowers, arrangements, fruits and nuts, vegetables, photography and paintings.

A large share of the prize money, $10,800, is offered in the professional garden categories, including a $250 best-in-show award for the display having the highest qualification for overall excellence.

One extra professional garden has been added to the categories, which are entitled: kitchen garden, summerhouse, gazebo, Sunday afternoon, outdoor aquarium, brownstone entry, garden wedding, terrace garden, trellis garden and garden gate.

Entries for garden collections, both amateur and professional, must be filed on or before June 1. Categories for amateur gardens, vying for $3,150.00 in awards, include: playmates, Tom Thumb, bird sanctuary, petit point, collector's item and fuschia garden.

Latest fair entries that can be accepted will be in the cut flower classification. Entrants here have until June 30.

Deadline for photography is June 9. Here there are three categories, pictorial slides, monochrome prints and color prints.

The painting division, open to all artists living in Marin County, is being divided into two classes, oils and watercolors. Awards of $260 are being offered with an extra $50 for best-in-show. Deadline is June 10.

Premium books and entry forms are available at the Marin Art and Garden Fair office in Ross.

TELEVISION REVIEW

War II Revisited Via Early Bird

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Who is your favorite television newscaster? Walter Cronkite? David Brinkley? Chet Huntley? Peter Jennings? Richard Dimbleby?

Richard Dimbleby?

Well, Richard Dimbleby is a very top man for the British Broadcasting Corp. (BBC) who apparently is going to become quite familiar to American televiewers because of the continuous transatlantic television now available with the new Early Bird satellite.

Mr. Dimbleby, whose very name has a pleasant, faintly Dickensian - Pickwick Club flavor and who, in fact, comes across as rather clubby himself, has been seen on numerous satellite broadcasts already, and this new era of television has hardly begun.

He was seen again prominently Saturday as CBS-TV and the BBC teamed up to use Early Bird for a program marking the 20th anniversary of Germany's World War II surrender, "Victory in Eruope — 20 years After." Viewers on both sides of the Atlantic who watched the combination of instant reality and film clips of the war days saw a one - hour "live documentary" created before their eyes.

The program, which was seen live in this country during daylight hours and was repeated on video tape during primetime, featured Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in New York talking with Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery in London, as well as visits to some key sites of the war — in Germany, France, Italy and England.

Among those reporting live from these sites was Dimbleby's grown son David, who, at Belsen, where the Nazis practiced some of their unspeakable horrors, rendered an incisive, precise verbal essay.

Eisenhower and Montgomery have had their public differences in the past, but they were in amiable form to start the hour. Monty said he was "jolly glad" to have been under Ike's command during the war, and began to reminisce. Ike returned the greeting, but reminded Monty the occasion was not for reminiscing as individuals but to pay tribute to the allied fighting men.

On several occasions, it seemed to this viewer that Ike plainly did not agree with some video explanations from the British side on matters of strategy, but unfortunately this aspect of the hour was not followed up. Also, while Ike may not be the best of public speakers, it struck this viewer that he had a good deal worth listening to, while Monty, on the other hand, registered as one of those conversationalists who interrupts and breaks the thread of a discussion, determined to talk about what he wants to talk about, no matter what.

Cronkite, by the way, sat with Ike in New York. And Dimbleby the elder, who was with Monty in London, presented a fascinating tour of the late Sir Winston Churchill's underground war headquarters — which remains untouched and which includes his small hard bed, and the small telephone room from which he spoke to President Franklin D. Roosevelt at the White House.

'A TOOT ON THE TRUMPET, JONNY'

Francis J. (Mugsey) Spanier of Sausalito, slowed down a mite on his trumpeting because of a heart ailment, gives trumpet lessons to Jonathan Pankin, 11, of Sausalito. Spanier hopes to start a class for about 10 youngsters. Only trouble with Jonathan, son of artist Ned A. Pankin of 9 Cazneau Avenue, is that he is allergic to Spanier's dogs, so the veteran entertainer goes to the boy's home for lessons. Spanier will play three concerts in September in Disneyland, he said.

Work Experience Program Praised

BY ELLEN BRY

Most students who answered a recent survey on the work experience education program of the Tamalpais High School District thought the project "was of great value."

"The WEEP gave me my first real experience in the adult world. I . . . learned to work with adults on an adult level and to recognize and carry out my responsibilities," one student wrote in the survey.

Robert J. Maher, coordinator of the program, said 41 of the 49 students questioned gave the "great value" rating to the project. The eight remaining students felt the program was of "some value." None thought the program was of "no value."

"I feel . . . the work experience program is most helpful to the . . . student interested in going into a job tat doesn't require a college diploma," a student wrote.

The program has been in effect 12 years in the district, gradually expanding until today students may have a choice among 100 types of jobs.

The program is aimed at giving work experience to juniors and seniors, working a maximum of four hours a day on weekdays. Students may earn up to 40 credits of the 200 required for graduation.

About 300 students will have worked at some job through the program by the time this school year is completed, about a third of them as teacher aides in the Mill Valley, San Anselmo or Larkspur school districts.

"I never stop singing the praises of the program," wrote one student on the questionnaire. "Not only was it valuable to me in introducing me to work I decided to pursue (teaching), but ti was of equal value to those students who decided against teaching."

"They didn't waste their three and a half years working toward a degree . . . before discovering it wasn't for them."

"It gave me a good future in spite of my poor school work," wrote another student.

A few students want to work in the program to earn school credit while at the same time earning money to run their cars although they aren't likely to admit this. Others are saving to go to college, and get to try out their future careers while earning money.

"I in no way believe that it was a waste of time or an excuse for not taking academic classes," writes one student, now studying pharmacy after having worked as a pharmacist assistant.

The chorus of praise from students who answered the questionnaire may be somewhat weighted in favor of the program because those who answered may be just the type who would tend to like the project, Maher admitted.

Maher began by sending out preliminary queries to the more than 200 students in the WEEP program during the 1960-61 and 1961-62 school years. He ended sendin gout 62 questionnaires to students whose addresses he found through the preliminary mailing.

Perhaps the most enthusiastic comment came from a boy who was a teacher aide:

"It was of great value to me in deciding finally to pursue a career in teaching. Besides that, it was one hell of a lot of fun."

First Cayes Hearing Tomorrow

First hearing on the proposed 1,577 apartment San Rafael Cayes subdivision will be held when the San Rafael Planning Commission meets at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

Scheduled are first hearing on zoning of the 100-acre site, in the East San Rafael tidelands, and application of San Rafael Cayes Inc. for a use permit to build the apartments.

Also on the agenda is the final map for a 69-lot subdivision and tentative map for a 19-lot development.

The final map is that for San Rafael Park Unit One, to be submitted by Dubin Developers Inc. It contains the first 69 lots of a 273-lot tentative map approved March 9.

San Rafael Newport Co. will submit its tentative map for Porto Bello West, in which nine duplexes or 18 single homes will be built on 19 lots.

Before viewing that map, commissioners will hold their second hearing on rezoning the San Pedro Road site from planned community district with condominium to planned district with townhouses, and will consider a use permit for the development.

Interior Department Taking Over Property

The Department of the Interior hopes soon to occupy most of the Tiburon Naval Net Depot to begin its program of underwater research, according to undersecretary John A. Carver.

This news came in a letter from Carver to Rep. Donald H. Clausen, R-First District.

Carver said the department would ask the General Services Administration to "transfer the excess property. . .in the very near future."

The "excess property," he explained, means the entire base except the south dock and a plot of ground nearby. The Navy will continue to use this area for electronic calibration facilities.

The north dock, which eventually will be used by the research vessels, is in need of repair. Carver said the department expects to use the south dock jointly with the Navy, or use docking space in San Francisco, until the north dock is fixed.

Future of the research project seemed in doubt at one point when the department clashed with the Navy over whether their activities would interfere with each other.

In his letter, however, Carver said, "we believe compatible programs can be developed."

Woman Hurt In Car Crash

Mrs. Mary Jane Merryman, 50, of 201 South Ridgewood Road, Kentfield, was treated for head cuts at Novato General Hospital Friday after being involved in a two-car collision on Highway 101 near Ignacio at 3 p.m.

California Highway Patrol said Mrs. Merryman tried to make a left turn from the highway and pulled into the path of a northbound vehicle driven by Dorothy M. Larnes, 42, of Santa Rosa.

She was cited for making a left turn from an improper position.

Tsunami (Tidal Wave) Hits, And There's Damage, Death

A tsunami, that oftimes destructive natural phenomenon known generally by a misnomer, "tidal wave," hit Marin County at 2:30 a.m. March 28, 1964.

It caused an estimated $200,000 damage and one death.

The tsunami hit Crescent City in Del Norte County and other cities along the Pacific Coast the same night. Casualties in the natural disaster, were listed in the tens, not hundreds, not thousands, because of the SSWWS, the Seismic Sea-Wave Warning System.

The Coast and Geodetic Survey of the United States Department of Commerce has prepared a 46-page booklet, "Tsunami!", the story of the 17-year-old Seismic Sea-Wave Warning System which has saved innumerable lives since its birth.

The illustrated booklet presents a realistic description of what could happen in San Rafael, Sausalito or in other communities on Marin's waterfronts when a tsunami warning has been received.

Evacuees had been watching the water from a cliff above their community which was alerted to an approaching Tsunami at 2:30 a.m.

The first wave arrived at 7:20 a.m., hours after the residents had left their homes.

Another wave came into the bay and receded, like a tide in miniature. The evacuees could not see the movement from where they stood. Some said they were going to return to their homes and leave the safety provided by the wind-chilled hill.

"Then you notice the change," the book related. "The second wave's run-off has continued and the ocean floor is exposed almost to the mouth of the bay. You can see the turbulent water in the distance, where, as though meeting the ocean's very edge, a churning wall of water more than fifty feet high enters the bay.

"Great rocks ripped from the ocean floor are rolled before it, and, as the wave advances, you hear its hissing sound—like a locomotive letting off steam.

This is the great wave, the tsunami. You have never seen a natural force more menacing than this, or so inexorable. For the first time since the evacuation, you feel the beginning of a general kind of fear—the fear man has when he sees nature with her mask torn away,

"Nine waves strike your town in all. The third and fourth waves are the worst, and the seventh does some damage. Part of your town is burning, part of it is gone. Seven people are missing and presumed drowned, two are injured. They had been evacuated, but had returned before the third wave. It is not yet ten o'clock."

Copies of the booklet are available through the Coast and Geodetic Survey, 555 Battery Street, Room 121, San Francisco.

Co-Op Store Plans Soil-Fill Ceremony

Soil from cooperatives all over the world will be added to Marin County soil Saturday at 11 a.m. when the Marin Co-op Center will hold its ground-filling rather than ground-breaking ceremony on the site of the future Co-op store on Tamal Vista Road, west of Highway 101 and north of the Corte Madera shopping center.

Martin Collor of Mill Valley, chairman of the Marin Co-op Center's council, said that soil from the sites of other Bay Area stores will be used in the ceremony as a symbol of friendship and cooperation.
